WSB Seen Weathering Crisis

Putnam Expects To Find Industry Replacements

Declares Controls Will Be Kept Going

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8 (AP)—Stabilization officials said tonight they have "very excellent" prospects of getting new industry members of the Wage Stabilization Board. They said government wage controls will continue in any event.

Roger L. Putnam, economic stabilizer, issued a statement for himself and for Mobilization Director Henry H. Fowler saying that "we are determined to keep the stabilization program operating — and we will do so."

The Wage Stabilization Board broke up Saturday with the angry resignations of its seven industry members who said President Truman's decision to grant the full pay boost asked by coal miners had ruined the stabilization program.

Successful Effort Seen
The Putnam-Fowler statement said:

"We are presently engaged in an effort to obtain the help of organized business groups in maintaining a functioning Wage Stabilization Board with proper industry representation. We believe we will succeed in that effort."

The present crisis grew out of Truman's decision to grant John L. Lewis' soft coal miners the full $1.50 daily wage hike Lewis had negotiated with the industry instead of the reduced $1.50 the WSB had ordered. The board had said any more than $1.50 would damage the anti-inflation program.

Nominee Withdraws

Fowler and Putnam emphasized that regardless of whether the industry members are replaced with new ones, some form of wage stabilization will be kept going.

The expected difficulty of finding new industry members to serve with the public and labor panels on the board was pointed out today when Virgil Day, an executive of a General Electric Company electronics parts plant in Syracuse, N. Y., asked that his nomination as an industry member be withdrawn. Day said "action in the coal case seems to have removed any possibility of being useful at all." The Syracusean had been nominated before the WSB breakup to fill out the board's panel of six regular members and two alternates.

Five Top Czech Reds Arrested

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia, Dec. 8 (AP)—Belgrade radio reported today "a new wave of arrests in Czechoslovakia" and said five top Communist leaders were among those being purged on order from Moscow.

The radio quoted the official Yugoslav news agency Tanjug as the source of its report but gave no indication how the information was received. There was no direct word from Prague, the Czech capital.

The purge list, as broadcast, included such noted figures as Gen. Ludvig Svoboda, first postwar minister of defense; Antonin Gregor, former minister of foreign trade; Eugene Erban, minister of labor and social security; Augustin Klimant, minister of heavy machinery; and Vladimir Kopriva, former minister of national security.

Tanjug at first also included the name of Zdenek Fierlinger, a former premier who paved the way for the Communist coup in 1948. Later it broadcast a correction deleting Fierlinger's name without giving an explanation.

Oxford, Md., Painter Held In Fatal Beating

CAMBRIDGE, Md., Dec. 8 (AP)—A man was jailed today in the death of another police said was fatally beaten, but officials still had made no public disclosures of a possible motive in the case.

Police said William Andrews, 41-year-old produce truck driver, was knocked down with a whiskey bottle and then beaten with a 30-pound rock.

Police Chief Grason W. Price said John Thomas Dobson Jr., 23, described as a painter from Oxford, was taken to Dorchester County Jail. State's Attorney Calvin Brinsfield said a murder charge had been placed against the man. Brinsfield said the man also has an address in Easton.

Supreme Court Ruling Protested By FDA Official

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8 (AP)—The Supreme Court today voted 8 to 1 to bar criminal prosecution against food manufacturers who refuse to admit federal inspectors to their plants.

Commissioner Charles W. Crawford of the U. S. Food and Drug Administration promptly protested that the high tribunal's decision knocked out the key enforcement provisions of the Food and Drug Act.

Law Enforcement Impossible
Crawford said the decision would make it impossible to enforce vital sections of the act which require evidence obtained by factory inspection.

The federal official said that without factory inspection, the only alternative is laboratory analysis of suspect products, but he declared that method would not detect cases "where soluble filth gets into the product itself."

Costello Rebuffed Again
Specifically, the court ruled that food manufacturers may not be fined or imprisoned for refusing to admit inspectors of the food and drug administration to their factories.

In other decisions, the court: 1. Ruled that the United States is not liable for oil company property destroyed by the U. S. Army in 1941 in the face of advancing Japanese troops in the Philippines. 2. Refused for a second time to grant Frank Costello, longtime New York gambler, a review of his contempt of Congress conviction. The court's second refusal is almost always final.

Mrs. Wallace Buried Under Slender Obelisk

INDEPENDENCE, Mo., Dec. 8 (AP)—Mrs. David W. Wallace, 90, mother-in-law of President Truman, was buried today under a slender granite obelisk in 120-year-old Woodlawn Cemetery.

She died Friday in the White House in Washington, where she had lived with the first family since her health began to fail.

The private funeral service was held at the old Wallace home, the "Little White House" where Mrs. Wallace once presided over Christmas gatherings of the Truman and Wallace families.

Ban On Televising Crowning Of Queen Elizabeth Is Lifted

LONDON, Dec. 8 (AP)—Britain's Coronation Committee gave in to nationwide protests today and lifted its ban on televising the actual crowning of Queen Elizabeth II next June.

The decision throws open the doors of historic Westminster Abbey to TV cameras and permits history's first television coverage of a coronation.

Only the most religious part of the coronation—the anointing, the communion prayers and the administration of the sacrament—will remain barred to TV.

The Coronation Committee announced also that the queen's colorful procession to and from her

Goering Car Heads For Auction Block

LONDON, Dec. 8 (AP)—Nazi Field Marshal Hermann Goering's 100 mile-an-hour bullet-proof Mercedes Benz automobile is going on the auction block.

The Soldiers, Sailors and Airmen's Families Association, which has raised thousands of pounds in exhibiting the car throughout Britain, said today it will go up for sale Dec. 16.

British troops found Goering's 20-foot long car—with an engine equivalent to that in an average 56-seater bus—in Schleswigstein at the end of the war.

The Minister of Supply turned the car over to the servicemen's charity organization three years ago for a fund-raising campaign.

Acheson Draws O'Connor's Fire

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8 (AP)—Sen. O'Connor (D-Md.) said tonight he considered Secretary of State Acheson's attitude on American Communists in the United Nations "disappointing," as well as "faulty and open to criticism."

O'Connor based his statement on a letter Acheson wrote to Sen. Wiley (R-Wis.) almost two months ago. He called the letter "a shockingly weak protest."

According to O'Connor, the secretary of State told Wiley "we do not regard the employment of United States citizens who are Communists as being in the best interests of the organization (U. N.) or of this government."

The Maryland senator said in a statement the letter "does not indicate an awareness of the present danger posed by the great number of subversives who have been allowed to occupy key positions where they could obtain confidential information on economic and military matters."

Eighteen American employees of the U. N. secretariat have resigned or been fired by Secretary General Trygve Lie recently for refusing to answer questions about alleged Communist connections.

Kohler Violated Security Rules, State Dept. Says

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8 (AP)—The State Department said today Foy D. Kohler, 44, former head of the Voice of America, violated security regulations in carrying secret documents to a weekend drinking party in nearby Virginia.

The department declined to say what disciplinary action might be taken. Officials said the documents dealt with the political situation in French Morocco, scene of bloody riots in the last few days, and affairs in Tunisia.

Carried Two Secret Papers

The State Department said Kohler, a member of Secretary of State Acheson's Policy Planning Board, had two secret papers in his possession when he was arrested by police in Arlington, Va., at 2 a. m. Saturday on charges of intoxication. With his wife, Phyllis, 40, he had been attending a party in Arlington.

Kohler, a former counselor at the American Embassy in Moscow, was arrested with his wife after their car left the highway and sheared off a telephone pole. Police said Mrs. Kohler was driving. Neither was seriously injured.

Police quoted Mrs. Kohler as saying she picked up her husband at the State Department and drove him to the party across the Potomac River from Washington.

Kohler Paid $8.25 Fine

Kohler paid a fine of $8.25 for public intoxication. Mrs. Kohler, appearing in Arlington County Court today, won a 10-day postponement of her trial on charges of drunken driving. She was released on $500 bond.

Michael McDermott, State Department press officer, said Kohler violated security regulations by failing to safeguard the secret documents "in a manner commensurate with their classification."

However, McDermott insisted that Kohler kept a tight grip on the documents throughout the episode so that no one else was permitted to see them.

Details Of RFC Loan To B & O Given Jurors

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8 (AP)—The government presented to a federal grand jury today details of a controversial $800 million dollar Reconstruction Finance Corp. loan to the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad in 1944.

The loan, part of a financial reorganization of the railroad, drew the fire of Sen. Tobey (R-NH) in 1947. Tobey declared in a Senate Banking Subcommittee minority report that fraud and collusion were involved but the subcommittee rejected the charge.

Titanic Survivor Dies

LONDON, Dec. 8 (AP)—Commander C. H. Lightoller, 78, only surviving officer of the Titanic disaster, died today. He was second mate.

The White Star liner Titanic was wrecked with loss of 1,517 lives on its maiden transatlantic voyage in 1912 after running into an iceberg off Newfoundland.

Convicts End Prison Revolt, Free Hostages

14 Are Promised Softer Punishment

SANTA FE, N. M., Dec. 8 (AP)—Fourteen New Mexico State Prison convicts, their spur-of-the-moment escape attempt a failure, today surrendered and released unharmed eight guards they held as hostages for 20 hours.

Promised softened punishment, they capitulated abruptly to end what the state's chief executive termed a major crisis.

Warden Morris Abram agreed to lighter punishment — isolation instead of confinement in the prison's underground dungeon — as "fair under the circumstances." "A lot of lives were in jeopardy," he said.

Abram said the action was not a riot. "It was a spur-of-the-moment plan to escape. They saw their chance, so they took it."

Demanded Automobile
They demanded a car be left for them at the gate to make a dash for freedom.

"I guess they figured they could get away somehow if they could get outside the walls," said Abram. End of the escape attempt came when the eight hostages — seized just after the prison's evening meal Sunday — walked unannounced out the front gate of the big gray prison on the outskirts of the city.

The guards were well-treated and given food and coffee by their captors. They refused to discuss their experience.

Clerk Freed To Open Gun Vault

Trouble erupted in the ancient 650-inmate prison when the convicts snatched a knife from the prison kitchen, put it to the back of Clerk Johnny Espinosa and forced him to open the gun vault.

The convicts broke into a steel box to get barrels to fit stocks stored separately.

The incident touched off the greatest concentration of law enforcement officers in New Mexico history. At dawn, after a night of unsuccessful negotiations, more than 150 state police, National Guardsmen, Los Alamos security officers, Santa Fe city police and volunteers stood armed and ready to storm the beleaguered convicts.

London Town Foggy Again

LONDON, Dec. 8 (AP)—A freak soot-laden fog that has crippled London for four days spread over Southeastern England tonight in a crazy-quilt pattern.

Millions of homework-bound commuters were stranded as a dense pall settled again over the capital after lifting only long enough during the afternoon to give Londoners a glimpse of the sun.

Swirling fog banks surrounded the city early in the evening just before the height of the rush hour and buses that started for outlying districts in comparatively clear weather ran into fog banks, forcing some vehicles to a standstill.

Fog patches — along with icy highways — were reported in a half dozen southeast counties—Essex, Kent, Surrey, Sussex, Buckinghamshire and Berkshire.

The suffocating fog rolled into London's vast Earls Court Auditorium where the annual Smithfield Livestock Show was underway. Eleven prize cattle choked to death. Others were saved from death by penicillin, whisky or oxygen. Some were saved by wrapping filters of damp sack over their nostrils.

Cassowary Birds Send Man To Hospital

SYDNEY, Australia, Dec. 8 (AP)—Two cassowary birds, rather like ostriches but smaller, stamped all over a man in their Sydney zoo pen today. Their sharp talons left the victim with a punctured lung and at least 30 other deep stab wounds.

Arthur Cook, 32, told his story to police from a hospital bed. He said he had climbed into a bird pen at Sydney's Taronga Park Zoo to observe some small jungle fowl more closely.

Suddenly the cassowaries, about 3½-feet high, crashed through the shrubbery behind Cook and knocked him over, he said. They kept jumping on him and tearing at him through his heavy clothing with their talons, which are like small daggers. He struggled on the ground and rolled clear, but they chased him to a fence before he could escape. By then his clothing was saturated with blood.

Secrecy Veils Ike's Talks With Advisers

ISRAELI PRESIDENT — The Israeli Parliament yesterday elected Itzhak Ben-Zvi (above), 68-year-old leader of the Labor Party, to be that nation's second president. Ben-Zvi, who will succeed the late Dr. Chaim Weizmann, will be sworn in tomorrow for a five-year term.

Nixon Says Taft 'Team Man'; Sees Harmony In GOP

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8 (AP)—Vice President-elect Nixon today forecast smooth-working harmony between the Eisenhower administration and Sen. Taft (R-Ohio)—despite a sharp break between the two Republican leaders over an Eisenhower Cabinet appointment.

"Sen. Taft is a team man," Nixon told a reporter. "There is no doubt in my mind he will be able to work smoothly with the new administration."

Taft, the man Eisenhower beat for the GOP nomination, rocked Republican circles last week with a blast at Eisenhower's appointment of Martin P. Durkin as secretary of labor.

Called Choice 'Incredible'

The Ohio senator said the President-elect's choice was "incredible." Durkin, he protested, is a staunch Democrat who opposed Eisenhower's election and has urged repeal of the Taft-Hartley labor relations law.

Taft also disclosed his recommendations for other top jobs in the Eisenhower administration have not been followed. Many of the appointments have gone to men in the camp of New York's Gov. Thomas E. Dewey. Taft's arch rival in GOP factional strife.

But Nixon, who will preside over the new Senate, discounted any suggestion that all this could lead to a permanent or deep rift between the new president and Taft, long considered the most influential Republican senator.

In fact, Nixon added, "there isn't any question—no doubt at all in my mind—that both the House and Senate will furnish very substantial majorities for Gen. Eisenhower's legislative program."

One of Nixon's roles in the new administration is to help in liaison work between the White House and Congress. He said he is anxious to start talking to lawmakers immediately to work toward smooth relations.

UMW Meets Today To Reelect John L.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8 (AP)—The United Mine Workers will meet tomorrow to reelect John L. Lewis to another four-year term as president.

The 72-year-old UMW leader has been unopposed for the union presidency since 1920.

Also unopposed for re-election are Thomas Kennedy, vice president, and John Owens, secretary-treasurer.

George Murphy Will Head Inaugural Entertainment

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8 (AP)—Dancer George Murphy today was named director of entertainment for the three-day party that begins before and ends after the inauguration of Dwight D. Eisenhower as president.

"It will be a national party," Murphy said. Radio and television will carry most of the proceedings, he added, and some of these programs may be sold to sponsors.

Korea Believed Major Subject

By DON WHITEHEAD
ABOARD USS HELENA En Route to Hawaii, Tuesday, Dec. 9 (AP)—Talks reportedly centered on the Korean War problem were shrouded in secrecy today as President-elect Eisenhower, four members of his future Cabinet and close advisers conferred in shirt-sleeves for the second day.

The conference which began Monday afternoon was resumed this morning as the cruiser Helena rode through the Pacific toward Pearl Harbor at a steady 25-knots.

The ship rolled slightly in rough seas, but no cases of seasickness were reported.

No Communiques Issued

No communiques were being issued on the meetings. What news has developed from the top-side conference was relayed through Eisenhower's press aides.

At the President-elect's side today were four men vital in the shaping of foreign and domestic policies after he takes office Jan. 20. They were the future secretaries of state, the Treasury and the interior and the attorney general.

Eisenhower's press secretary, James C. Hagerty, made clear that even the subjects discussed would not be disclosed at this time and probably not until after the new administration takes office Jan. 20.

However, one source close to Eisenhower squelched recurring reports that the general favored enlarging the Korean War.

Due In Hawaii Thursday

"Nothing is definite yet," the source said. Hagerty said flatly "we will make no statement on Korea."

The Helena was due to complete its 3,300-mile trip from Guam at 9 a. m. Thursday Hawaiian time (2 p. m. EST). Eisenhower and his staff are expected to continue their meetings at Pearl Harbor for at least two days.

Hagerty said he could not say what Eisenhower's itinerary would be after he left the islands.

Vessel Aground Off Wash. Coast

ABERDEEN, Wash., Dec. 8 (AP)—The 7,000-ton freighter Yorkmar, with 37 crewmen aboard, ran hard aground today in heavy seas near the mouth of Grays Harbor, but appeared several hours later in no danger of breaking up.

The Coast Guard said the Liberty ship, owned by the Calmar Steamship Corp., was stuck fast on a sand reef about 100 yards off shore and 300 to 400 yards up the beach from the north jetty.

The mouth of this Washington coast harbor is 24 miles west of here.

A Coast Guard helicopter and cutter at the scene said the Yorkmar was embedded firmly in the sand, and the crew probably could walk ashore if they wished at low tide near midnight tonight.

The Yorkmar was en route from San Francisco, in ballast, to Grays Harbor.

POW Slain, Another Wounded On Kojoe

PUSAN, Korea, Tuesday, Dec. 9 (AP)—A North Korean prisoner of war was shot and killed and another wounded critically by U. N. guards on Kojoe Island Sunday, the prisoner of war command said today.

The command's announcement said the prisoner killed was trying to escape.

The other POW was shot when he ignored orders to get out of a restricted area. He is in the Kojoe Island hospital.

French Planes Disperse Mob With Tear Gas

Nationalists Kill Seven Europeans

CASABLANCA, Morocco, Dec. 8 (AP)—Morocco's bloody two-day Nationalist-led riots that have brought death to more than 50 persons verged on open armed rebellion tonight.

Police evacuated French citizens from one sector of Casablanca and planes circled Arab quarters dropping tear gas bombs to disperse mobs shouting for independence from France.

Troops and police laid siege to more than 2,000 Moroccan union members barricaded in the downtown headquarters of the Moroccan General Labor Confederation (CGT). The riots erupted yesterday after a 24-hour general strike call by the union.

The call resulted from the unexplained assassination of Tunisian Nationalist Farhat Hached, secretary-general of the Tunisian Labor Federation. He was slain Friday outside Tunis.

Police and troops in armored cars and light tanks patrolled key spots of Casablanca tonight. Other tanks helped to block off the 2,000 union members in the CGT building.

Europeans Evacuated

Police began moving French and other European residents from danger zones. They were taken to a central point where arrangements were made for billeting them with French families in safer neighborhoods.

The encircled union members bombarded police lines with bricks torn from the walls of their building. At nightfall troops had apparently prevented the union demonstration from spilling over into other European quarters of the city.

Authorities said today's death toll included seven Europeans, three Moroccan soldiers and at least 40 Arab demonstrators. An undetermined number of Arabs were injured. Three Europeans were reported seriously injured.

European Stoned To Death

One European victim, Louis Ribes, former mayor of Agadir, was dragged from his automobile and stoned to death by members of a mob of 6,000 attempting to storm into the French sector.

Earlier, an angry mob seized two Frenchmen in an abandoned stone quarry on the edge of Casablanca and cut off their heads and arms. A third Frenchman was stoned to death. All three bodies were put to the torch and burned beyond recognition.

After the three Frenchmen were killed and their bodies burned, the mob, then numbering about 600, began a frenzied march on the police station. Their numbers swelled to 5,000 as they pushed on. Police opened fire and killed 20.

Later a crowd of more than 6,000 Arabs carrying Moroccan independence flags and banners began marching on the European section of the city. When police tried to turn them back, the demonstrators hurled stones. Police replied with gunfire, killing 10.

Western Storm Leaves 13 Dead

KLAMATH FALLS, Ore., Dec. 8 (AP)—New snow fell in the mountains today, but crews managed to open the roads between California and Oregon, where 13 lives were lost in a fierce, weekend storm.

Traffic began moving slowly over the highways after the roads were cleared of high snow drifts in the mountains and blown-down trees along the coast.

Falling trees killed six of the storm victims. Another drowned when caught by a storm-swelled wave on an Oregon beach. The others died on slick highways.

California - Oregon Power Co. lines were left in a tangled mess in this area, but service was restored to 70 per cent of the customers today by use of lumber mill steam generators. Those still without power, mostly in rural areas, are expected to be back on the lines within 48 hours.

Korean Ground War Grinds To Near Halt

SEOUL, Tuesday, Dec. 9 (AP)—The Korean ground war lapsed into a fitful quiet Monday with only sporadic actions along the frozen front.

In the aerial war, Sabre jets downed a Communist MIG over Northwest Korea while Allied planes pummeled Red communications.

They demanded a car be left for them at the gate to make a dash for freedom.

"I guess they figured they could get away somehow if they could get outside the walls," said Abram. End of the escape attempt came when the eight hostages—seized just after the prison's evening meal Sunday—walked unannounced out the front gate of the big gray prison on the outskirts of the city.

The guards were well-treated and given food and coffee by their captors. They refused to discuss their experience.

Clerk Freed To Open Gun Vault
Trouble erupted in the ancient 650-inmate prison when the convicts snatched a knife from the prison kitchen, put it to the back of Clerk Johnny Espinosa and forced him to open the gun vault.

The convicts broke into a steel box to get barrels to fit stocks stored separately.

The incident touched off the greatest concentration of law enforcement officers in New Mexico history. At dawn, after a night of unsuccessful negotiations, more than 150 state police, National Guardsmen, Los Alamos security officers, Santa Fe city police and volunteers stood armed and ready to storm the beleaguered convicts.

London Town Foggy Again

LONDON, Dec. 8 (AP)—A freak soot-laden fog that has crippled London for four days spread over Southeastern England tonight in a crazy-cold pattern.

Millions of homeward-bound commuters were stranded as the dense pall settled again over the capital after lifting only long enough during the afternoon to give Londoners a glimpse of the sun.

Swirling fog banks surrounded the city early in the evening just before the height of the rush hour and buses that started for outlying districts in comparatively clear weather ran into fog banks, forcing some vehicles to a standstill.

Fog patches — along with icy highways — were reported in a half dozen southeast counties—Essex, Kent, Surrey, Sussex, Buckinghamshire and Berkshire.

The suffocating fog rolled into London's vast Earls Court Auditorium where the annual Smithfield Livestock Show was underway. Eleven prize cattle choked to death. Others were saved from death by penicillin, whisky or oxygen. Some were saved by wrapping filters of damp sacking over their nostrils.

Cassowary Birds Send Man To Hospital

SYDNEY, Australia, Dec. 8 (AP)—Two cassowary birds, rather like ostriches but smaller, stamped all over a man in their Sydney zoo pen today. Their sharp talons left the victim with a punctured lung and at least 30 other deep stab wounds.

Arthur Cook, 32, told his story to police from a hospital bed. He said he had climbed into a bird pen at Sydney's Taronga Park Zoo to observe some small jungle fowl more closely.

Suddenly the cassowaries, about 3½-feet high, crashed through the shrubbery behind Cook and knocked him over, he said. They kept jumping on him and tearing at him through his heavy clothing with their talons, which are like small daggers. He struggled on the ground and rolled clear, but they chased him to a fence before he could escape. By then his clothing was saturated with blood.

Secrecy Veils Ike's Talks With Advisers

Korea Believed Major Subject

By DON WHITEHEAD
ABOARD USS HELENA En Route to Hawaii, Tuesday, Dec. 9 (AP)—Talks reportedly centered on the Korean War problem were shrouded in secrecy today as President-elect Eisenhower, four members of his future Cabinet and close advisers conferred in shirt-sleeves for the second day.

The conference which began Monday afternoon was resumed this morning as the cruiser Helena rode through the Pacific toward Pearl Harbor at a steady 25-knots.

The ship rolled slightly in rough seas, but no cases of seasickness were reported.

No Communiques Issued
No communiques were being issued on the meetings. What news has developed from the top-side conference was relayed through Eisenhower's press aides.

At the President-elect's side today were four men vital in the shaping of foreign and domestic policies after he takes office Jan. 20. They were the future secretaries of state, the Treasury and the interior and the attorney general.

Eisenhower's press secretary, James C. Hagerty, made clear that even the subjects discussed would not be disclosed at this time and probably not until after the new administration takes office Jan. 20.

However, one source close to Eisenhower squelched recurring reports that the general favored enlarging the Korean War.

Due In Hawaii Thursday
"Nothing is definite yet," the source said.

Hagerty said flatly "we will make no statement on Korea."

The Helena was due to complete its 3,300-mile trip from Guam at 9 a. m. Thursday Hawaiian time (2 p. m., EST). Eisenhower and his staff are expected to continue their meetings at Pearl Harbor for at least two days.

Hagerty said he could not say what Eisenhower's itinerary would be after he left the islands.

Vessel Aground Off Wash. Coast

ABERDEEN, Wash., Dec. 8 (AP)—The 7,000-ton freighter Yorkmar, with 37 crewmen aboard, ran hard aground today in heavy seas near the mouth of Grays Harbor, but appeared several hours later in no danger of breaking up.

The Coast Guard said the Liberty ship, owned by the Calmar Steamship Corp., was stuck fast on a sand reef about 100 yards off shore and 300 to 400 yards up the beach from the north jetty.

The mouth of this Washington coast harbor is 24 miles west of here.

A Coast Guard helicopter and cutter at the scene said the Yorkmar was embedded firmly in the sand, and the crew probably could walk ashore if they wished at low tide near midnight tonight.

The Yorkmar was en route from San Francisco, in ballast, to Grays Harbor.

POW Slain, Another Wounded On Kojie

PUSAN, Korea, Tuesday, Dec. 9 (AP)—A North Korean prisoner of war was shot and killed and another wounded critically by U. N. guards on Kojie Island Sunday, the prisoner of war command said today.

The command's announcement said the prisoner killed was trying to escape.

The other POW was shot when he ignored orders to get out of a restricted area. He is in the Kojie Island hospital.

George Murphy Will Head Inaugural Entertainment

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8 (AP)—Dancer George Murphy today was named director of entertainment for the three-day party that begins before and ends after the inauguration of Dwight D. Eisenhower as president.

"It will be a national party," Murphy said. Radio and television will carry most of the proceedings, he added, and some of these programs may be sold to sponsors.

This would be done, Murphy said, in an effort to meet expenses. Joseph C. McGarraghay, chairman of the inaugural committee, previously had said that the bill for the three days of entertainment may

French Planes Disperse Mob With Tear Gas

Nationalists Kill Seven Europeans

CASABLANCA, Morocco, Dec. 8 (AP)—Morocco's bloody two-day Nationalist-led riots that have brought death to more than 50 persons verged on open armed rebellion tonight.

Police evacuated French citizens from one sector of Casablanca and planes circled Arab quarters dropping tear gas bombs to disperse mobs shouting for independence from France.

Troops and police laid siege to more than 2,000 Moroccan union members barricaded in the downtown headquarters of the Moroccan General Labor Confederation (CGT). The riots erupted yesterday after a 24-hour general strike call by the union.

The call resulted from the unexplained assassination of Tunisian Nationalist Farhat Hached, secretary-general of the Tunisian Labor Federation. He was slain Friday outside Tunis.

Police and troops in armored cars and light tanks patrolled key spots of Casablanca tonight. Other tanks helped to block off the 2,000 union members in the CGT building.

Europeans Evacuated
Police began moving French and other European residents from danger zones. They were taken to a central point where arrangements were made for billeting them with French families in safer neighborhoods.

The encircled union members bombarded police lines with bricks torn from the walls of their building. At nightfall troops had apparently prevented the union demonstration from spilling over into other European quarters of the city.

Authorities said today's death toll included seven Europeans, three Moroccan soldiers and at least 40 Arab demonstrators. An undetermined number of Arabs were injured. Three Europeans were reported seriously injured.

European Stoned To Death
One European victim, Louis Ribes, former mayor of Agadir, was dragged from his automobile and stoned to death by members of a mob of 6,000 attempting to storm into the French sector.

Earlier, an angry mob seized three Frenchmen in an abandoned stone quarry on the edge of Casablanca and cut off their heads and arms. A third Frenchman was stoned to death. All three bodies were put to the torch and burned beyond recognition.

After the three Frenchmen were killed and their bodies burned, the mob, then numbering about 600, began a frenzied march on the police station. Their numbers swelled to 5,000 as they pushed on. Police opened fire and killed 20.

Later a crowd of more than 6,000 Arabs carrying Moroccan independence flags and banners began marching on the European section of the city. When police tried to turn them back, the demonstrators hurled stones. Police replied with gunfire, killing 10.

Western Storm Leaves 13 Dead

KLAMATH FALLS, Ore., Dec. 8

(AP)—New snow fell in the mountains today, but crews managed to open the roads between California and Oregon, where 13 lives were lost in a fierce, weekend storm.

Traffic began moving slowly over the highways after the roads were cleared of high snow drifts in the mountains and blown-down trees along the coast.

Falling trees killed six of the storm victims. Another drowned when caught by a storm-swelled wave on an Oregon beach. The others died on slick highways.

California - Oregon Power Co. lines were left in a tangled mess in this area, but service was restored to 70 per cent of the customers today by use of lumber mill steam generators. Those still without power, mostly in rural areas, are expected to be back on the lines within 48 hours.

Korean Ground War Grinds To Near Halt

SEOUL, Tuesday, Dec. 9 (AP)—The Korean ground war lapsed into a futile quiet Monday with only sporadic actions along the frozen front.

In the aerial war, Sabre jets downed a Communist MIG over Northwest Korea while Allied planes pummeled Red communications.

Churches Facing Crucial Test, Protestants Warned

DENVER, Dec. 8 (AP)—American Protestants today were told they face this choice: Either wake up to new conditions on college campuses and in foreign fields, or lose ground for Christianity.

Experts in foreign missions work and in Christian higher education said churches must fashion their tools to cope with an age of ideas in upheaval, or setbacks may be at hand.

The admonition was given to departmental conferences preceding the opening tomorrow night of the General Assembly of the National Council of Churches of Christ in the USA, the nation's biggest religious organization.

Rev. Ira W. Moomaw, a foreign missions division official just back from a six-month tour of agricultural countries abroad, said there the churches face "the greatest crisis and the most noble challenge" in their history.

Dr. Frank Laubach, the council's literacy expert whose job is teaching unschooled masses abroad to read, sounded a similar note, declaring that churches have a far greater weapon than the Communists.

"We carry a Bible with us which contains social dynamite," he said.

French-Tunisian Talks Are Urged

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Dec. 8 (AP)—The United States and 11 Latin American countries appealed today for France and Tunisia to resume direct negotiations and peacefully settle the crisis in French-ruled North Africa.

Amid reports of new violence and rioting, Philip C. Jessup, U. S. delegate, told the 60-nation Political Committee of the Assembly this country feels that both France and Tunisia are right.

This followed the middle-course line laid down by Secretary of State Acheson at the start of the Assembly and dumped into the lap of the incoming Eisenhower administration the tough question of which side to take in the growing controversy.

Jessup spoke after a moderating resolution had been put before the committee by Brazil, Costa Rica, Cuba, Ecuador, Honduras, Panama, Paraguay, Peru, Nicaragua, Uruguay, Venezuela.

This proposal expressed the hope that the French and the Tunisians will continue negotiations on an urgent basis with a view to bringing about self-government for Tunisians under the U. N. Charter.

New Mercury, Ford Prices Unchanged

DETROIT, Dec. 8 (AP)—The 1953 model Mercury auto, with styling changes designed to give it a lower, wider appearance, will go on dealer display Dec. 10.

As was announced for the Ford Lincoln model, Mercury price tags will remain unchanged. With this announcement, Ford also disclosed today that when the new Ford models are introduced next Friday, they, too, will show prices unchanged for the 1952 level.

Styling changes designed to give a lower, wider appearance and mechanical advances to improve performance are incorporated in the new Mercury models. A newly designed hood ornament, heavier chrome hood lip moulding and new accessory bumper guards contribute to the wider appearance. There are also new chrome side mouldings.

Sing Sing Prison Pictured As Dock Job "Hiring Hall"

NEW YORK, Dec. 8 (AP)—Grim Sing Sing Prison was pictured today as a sort of hiring hall where hardened convicts were recruited for soft jobs on the New York waterfront.

The startling testimony before the State Crime Commission came from a slender ex-convict, Anthony Tischon, who spent 11 of his 33 years behind bars for robbery.

Not only did he describe waterfront jobs as available to ex-convicts, but Tischon added: "I think they were preferred. The worse record you had, the easier it was to get a job."

Tischon said he was recruited in prison by a fellow-convict, a shop steward of the AFL International

Longshoremen's Association (ILA). He went to work as soon as he was released, Tischon added, but he spent most of his working time "playing cards and looking to steal something."

The witness gave the commission a longshoreman's peek into the thievery racket which bedevils the great port of New York to the tune of thousands of dollars every year.

He's Waited Long Enough

INDIANAPOLIS, Dec. 8 (AP)—William S. Hill, 67, whose wife left him 32 years ago, got a divorce today after telling the judge: "I don't think she's going to return to me."

Use Of Fluorine In Water Is Given Approval By City

The Mayor and Council by unanimous approval of a resolution yesterday set in motion machinery for the eventual fluoridation of Cumberland's water supply.

Addition of fluorine in quantity of one part to 1,000,000 parts is supposed to reduce tooth decay, particularly in children whose teeth have not calcified.

Yesterday's resolution does not mean that fluorine will be added to the water immediately. The plan must be approved by both the Maryland and Pennsylvania Boards of Health and the city will confer with Robert T. Regester, Baltimore consulting engineer, on the physical setup needed to induce the chemical into the supply.

Ask Machinery Bids
Under the resolution, Water Commissioner William J. Edwards is authorized to take steps for its use and to advertise for bids on equipment necessary.

By its action, the council concurred with the local Board of Health and the Allegany-Garrett Dental and Medical Societies. These groups have led the fight to have fluorine added to the water.

Commissioner William V. Keegan, in voting for the resolution, qualified his vote with the provision that the method of handling fluorine at the water plant be approved by the boards of health. This is included in the resolution.

Dr. Jack Murray, 516 Sheridan Place, a local chiropractor who has been the most outspoken opponent of the plan, appeared before the council again yesterday with statistical information which he said had taken considerable time to detail.

He cited sodium fluoride as the same substance used in insecticides and various poisons and quoted medical authorities on its harmful effects including mottling of teeth, increase of diabetes, heart disease, hardening of arteries and inflammation of kidneys among others.

For people who want fluorine for their children, he added, they may obtain it in commercially bottled water, tablets, and chewing gum. He said there is also danger of an overdose, and that people who drank more water than others were likely to suffer ill effects.

Evidence In Support
Dr. W. Karl Kolb, of the Dental Society, told the council there is a preponderance of evidence in support of the use of fluorine and that the quantity of one part to 1,000,000 parts will do no harm.

Murray questioned whether Kolb could substantiate his statement with written evidence, and Kolb told him that he had already been answered in an opening meeting. Members of the council met with interested groups last week on the matter to hear pro and con arguments.

Kolb commended the council for its action and said the result would be evident in years to come. Mayor Roy W. Eves, who stated there had been very little opposition, added the council had taken the action only after considerable thought and study.

Previously the council had read a letter from Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Trudell, 217 Tilghman Street, in which they said they were pleased the city was considering the addition of fluorine to the water and considered it a modern health measure.

Use Of Fluorine In Water Is Given Approval By City

The Mayor and Council by unanimous approval of a resolution yesterday set in motion machinery for the eventual fluoridation of Cumberland's water supply.

Addition of fluorine in quantity of one part to 1,000,000 parts is supposed to reduce tooth decay, particularly in children whose teeth have not calcified.

Yesterday's resolution does not mean that fluorine will be added to the water immediately. The plan must be approved by both the Maryland and Pennsylvania Boards of Health and the city will confer with Robert T. Regeister, Baltimore consulting engineer, on the physical setup needed to induct the chemical into the supply.

Ask Machinery Bids

Under the resolution, Water Commissioner William J. Edwards is authorized to take steps for its use and to advertise for bids on equipment necessary.

By its action, the council concurred with the local Board of Health and the Allegany-Garrett Dental and Medical Societies. These groups have led the fight to have fluorine added to the water.

Commissioner William V. Keegan, in voting for the resolution, qualified his vote with the provision that the method of handling fluorine at the water plant be approved by the boards of health. This is included in the resolution. Dr. Jack Murray, 516 Sheridan Place, a local chiropractor who has been the most outspoken opponent of the plan, appeared before the council again yesterday with statistical information which he said had taken considerable time to detail.

He cited sodium fluoride as the same substance used in insecticides and various poisons and quoted medical authorities on its harmful effects including mottling of teeth, increase of diabetes, heart disease, hardening of arteries and inflammation of kidneys among others.

For people who want fluorine for their children, he added, they may obtain it in commercially bottled water, tablets, and chewing gum. He said there is also danger of an overdose, and that people who drank more water than others were likely to suffer ill effects.

Christmas Cards

Christmas cards now on display in all shops and stores are a hint that the holidays are not far away. These colorful cards provide a sentimental bond between Yuletide celebrations of the past and the present.

To moderns their arrival means the holly-and-poinsettia season has again arrived. Their sparkling, story-telling designs piece together a saga of Christmas through the ages.

Holiday parties pictured on many cards in gay colors, were actually started as "open house" over 1,000 years ago. The Saxon lords of Germany, after being converted to Christianity, opened their great halls to peasants and nobles alike at Christmas time. Together they feasted, sang, and exchanged gifts until the last embers of a huge Yule log flickered away.

Among the many religious designs are various reproductions of the Magi who brought gold, frankincense, and myrrh to the Babe of Bethlehem, beginning the custom of gift-giving at Yuletide.

Gold was offered to acknowledge the Holy Child's supreme reign over the world. Frankincense was a symbol of the worship due Him, and the bitter-sweet scent of the myrrh was a prophecy of sadness.

Holly, mistletoe, and poinsettia are perennial favorites with Christmas card designers. Yet little is known about their origin.

Holly wreaths are a symbol of the Crucifixion. It is said that when the crown of thorns was made from its branches, the then-white berries turned red.

Mistletoe was called "allheal" by the early Britons and it was thought there would be no sickness in homes where it was hung.

Poinsettia in its native Mexico is called "Flower of the Nativity." Legend says it was once a weed. Plucked from the roadside by a little wail who had no other gift for her cathedral, a scarlet radiance swept over the flower as she laid it before the altar on Christmas Eve.

Christmas tree scenes are as popular as ever. A widespread tale that all trees blossom with flowers and ripe fruits on the night of the Nativity inspired the modern custom of decorating the Christmas tree. This story was first told by an Arabian geographer, back in the 10th Century.

Some cards this year are in the form of a Christmas card booklet, with words and music of a different carol on each page. Others are illustrated with colorful choral groups gathered on street corners or in churches.

Of course no panorama of Christmas cards is complete without the thousands which portray Santa Claus. These rank among the 10 most popular designs each year.

Santa is the modern descendant of St. Nicholas, a kindly bishop who lived in Asia Minor almost 1,600 years ago. Early Dutch settlers brought tales of his generous, fun-loving nature to America.

The first typical Christmas cards were published 110 years ago, and the custom of wishing loved ones a good, old-fashioned "Merry Christmas" grows with the passing years.

Unsung Individualists

Year after year, month after month, day after day, the unknown, unsung inventors of America go on turning out their creations. Most of their products never get more than a number on file in the patent office, and many never attain even that distinction.

But the individualists who invent without being on a corporation payroll have fun trying, and there's always the chance they will hit on something simple but lucrative, like Eskimo pie. Besides, patent lawyers must live, presumably.

There's a gentleman in California who likes to shave after taking a shower. The trouble with that, as who doesn't know, is that the shower fogs the mirror. So the bright gentleman in California has patented a bathroom fog eliminator. If enough bathe-and-then-shave addicts beat a path to his door, he'll be able to hire a personal barber. If not, he can still shave unruffled after a shower.

A Connecticut gentleman, meanwhile, has patented an invention that fills a heartfelt need. Ask any husband whose wife has the habit of waiting until he is stretched out with pipe and slippers before saying: "I need somebody big and strong to shake out this dust mop for me." Yep, he has an automatic electric dustmopshaker. Whatever it costs, it's worth it.

Still another inventor, this time from Pennsylvania, has invented a substitute for wives. Not a complete substitute, but one that keeps the heels of a man's socks holeless, which is an improvement on some wives. He patented a leather heel for socks.

Most of these gadgets—the Patent Office issues periodic announcements about the latest brainstorms that have unraveled its red tape—sound like the kind of thing that appeals to Christmas shoppers as just the gift for Uncle Arnold. Maybe they are, at that.

NATO's Problems

It is fairly obvious at this point that armament goals, set previously by the North Atlantic Treaty Organization nations will not be met at deadline time. For example, West Germany has notified General Ridgway's headquarters that it will be unable to meet the July 1954 deadline for putting eight infantry and four armored divisions in the field.

Similarly, a lag in personnel procurement among most of the European member nations will find the goal of 25 active and 25 reserve divisions of the new European defense army unfulfilled at the deadline which rolls round next July 1.

But the military outlook may be brighter than it would appear to be. This is the view of Ambassador Frederick L. Anderson, who is number two man in the Mutual Assistance setup. Mr. Anderson, a wartime air general, recently told a group of foreign correspondents in Washington that the tougher future problems facing NATO are political, moral and economic, rather than military.

The Russians, having failed in their effort to check Western rearmament by threats, will begin probing at a weaker spot—the economic relationship between the various NATO nations—he predicts.

Drinkers Need More Vitamin B

Many alcoholics drink in secret and the habit is never detected until they develop complications. Neuritis of the arms and legs is among the most prevalent ailments, more so in women who take frequent nips by day when no one else is around. These tipplers make the mistake of neglecting to eat and thereby set the foundation for the vitamin deficiency that is responsible for neuritis.

It is a well established fact that large amounts of good whiskey or other spirituous drinks can be consumed over a long period of time without producing neuritis, provided an adequate diet is followed. When neuritis occurs, it is indistinguishable from the nerve condition associated with pellagra, which also results from a deficiency of vitamin B.

Apparently alcohol requires thiamin (vitamin B) to be metabolized by the body and when large quantities of booze are taken there is a greater demand for this vitamin. By eating properly, the needs are met but when the drinker forgets his meals the thiamin supply is exhausted quickly. Consequently the alcoholic may develop not only neuritis but cirrhosis of the liver and other complications.

In other instances, alcoholic neuritis is brought on by a toxic condition such as that following the ingestion of wood alcohol, Jamaica gin, or canned heat. Toxicity also may stem from the use of bromides or barbiturates which the alcoholic often takes to offset the jitters. Undoubtedly some neurological disorders are traceable to head injuries suffered in sprees either thru falls or fights.

Alcoholic neuritis usually comes on so slowly the drinker might find it difficult to recall when discomfort started. There may be a feeling of excessive warmth, coldness, numbness, and tingling, a condition known medically as paresthesia. These bizarre symptoms may escape detection for months because most alcoholics have learned to accept minor annoyances. The situation changes, however, when pain arises—varying from aching to severe cutting pains in the lower extremities. Cramping of the calves of the legs occurs at night and, with progressive nerve destruction, pain gives way to real anesthesia of the parts in which all sensation is lost. The muscles are affected also, first by weakness and finally by complete paralysis. Foot drop is common. Most alcoholics do something about the condition long before this stage is reached; some seek aid at the first sign of pain. Early treatment, plus the increasing use of vitamin B by drinkers, may account for the fact that physicians are not seeing alcoholic neuritis as frequently as in the past despite the increased consumption of alcohol among the general population.

Should this type of neuritis develop, relief often is obtained with large doses of vitamin B including the newer B12. To assure assimilation of the vitamins, an adequate diet is recommended. Meanwhile, physical therapy is required to restore tone and strength to the muscles. This means gentle massage, heat, and the use of the whirlpool bath for foot drop. Improvement is the rule in mild cases; the majority are able to walk within two or three days and, by the end of a month, the reflexes return and tenderness subsides. In more severe neuritis, the nerves are damaged permanently and complete recovery never occurs.

Mike Di Salle Urges Price-Wage Controls Be Kept For Ike; Air Force Will Advise More A-Bombs For Europe But None For Asia

WASHINGTON — Rotund Mike Di Salle, the ex-price administrator called in by Truman to make an emergency report on whether to dump price-wage controls, has written a vigorous recommendation that they must be kept.

Before doing so, however, he conferred with both Republicans and Democrats, also went up to New York to lunch with gaunt, gray Bernie Baruch, the father of price controls. Baruch was adamant that controls must be retained, said it would be dangerous to drop them at this time, that an emergency might develop during the Eisenhower administration that would make them absolutely necessary.

Conferring with Sen. Cabot Lodge, Eisenhower's liaison man in Washington, Di Salle urged that a Republican be sent over to the Office of Price Stabilization so as to become familiar with that difficult problem.

Conferring with Secretary of Defense Lovett, Di Salle was told that keeping 3,500,000 men under arms, even without new equipment, would cost a total of $25,000,000,000 a year. Therefore some sort of controls must be kept to guard against inflation.

In the end, Di Salle informed Truman that it would be unfair to the Eisenhower administration to drop controls at this time.

NOTE — The man who urged ending controls and who came within a hair's breadth of putting his ideas across was soft-spoken, busybody John Steelman, assistant to the President. He figured that by dumping all controls, Mr. Truman would get off the hook on granting the wage increase to John L. Lewis. In other words, Steelman wanted to kill the patient in order to cure an ailing finger.

Air Force Advice

Secretary of the Air Force Finletter will recommend to Republicans as he bows out of office that more atomic bombs be rushed to Europe in order to discourage Soviet aggression.

In the Far East, however, he will give the opposite advice. He will warn against using atomic weapons or taking any step that might spread the Korean War. For, while the atomic bomb can be used as a deterrent in Europe, Finletter feels it might touch off World War III if unleashed without provocation in Asia.

The somber Air Force boss, who has done one of the best jobs in Washington, is prepared to let down his hair and talk bluntly to the Republican who moves into his shoes. He will warn that the defense budget cannot be trimmed another dime for at least two years, that a 143-group air force does not allow enough reserve planes to care for losses, and that the best insurance against war with Russia is a powerful strategic bombing fleet, capable of penetrating to the heart of Russia.

After another two years of high defense spending, Finletter will advise that perhaps the defense budget can be cut to about $30,000,000,000 yearly, of which he believes the Air Force should get the lion's share. However, he will condemn in no uncertain terms Congress's meat-ax attacks on the budget. For example, Congress indiscriminately chopped off $130,000,000 last year, thereby retarding Air Force readiness by two years.

Concealing Army Costs

The boys at the Pentagon are pulling some quiet wires to have Sen. Wayne Morse, Oregon's independent Republican, taken off the Senate Armed Forces Committee. They don't like his persistency in probing into military expenditures abroad.

Morse recently came back from a trip to Europe and North Africa, began to ask disagreeable questions about military spending, wrote a letter to Undersecretary of Defense Foster for exact cost figures on certain operations. In reply, he got a maze of misleading figures which mean nothing.

Again writing to Foster, Morse demanded that the Defense Department quit giving him the run-around.

"I intend to get the information," Morse wrote, "or explain to the Senate the danger of a policy which denies to Congress data on the cost of our bases abroad."

"If the Pentagon fails to give me this data," the senator from Oregon continued, "I shall take whatever steps are necessary to advise the public of the concealment policy of the Pentagon."

Meanwhile the boys at the Pentagon are putting their heads together with GOP leaders, who do not like Morse, to get him removed from the Armed Services Committee. After that he will lack the power to probe Army costs abroad.

Mysterious Russians

UN Secretary-General Trygve Lie is still puzzling over the strange behavior of a Russian associate, who was abruptly recalled to Moscow to see his "sick son" but, before he left, promised to smuggle a personal message back to Lie by secret code. However, the wrong man sent the coded message in an incident that has all the flavor of international drama.

Lie's assistant at the United Nations was an amiable Russian named Arkady Sobolev. The two men became close friends, saw eye-to-eye more often than Sobolev dared admit.

Then, one day, Sobolev rushed over to Lie's house with shattering news. Desperately, he told about a cablegram he had just received from Moscow, summoning him home because his son was sick. Yet regular letters from his wife had contained no hint of their son's illness.

Sobolev suspected something sinister was in store for him, nervously arranged a secret code to notify his friend. If he was detained in Russia against his will, Sobolev promised he would send a cablegram in broken English explaining he was too sick to return to his post.

A few weeks later, Lie received a cable from Sobolev, but it was in perfect English. It declared that he would not be back, but the reason given was not that he was sick, but that his son had taken a turn for the worse.

As if this were not baffling enough, Lie got a second cablegram from another Russian associate, who had returned to Russia for a vacation. Unlike Sobolev, this Russian had kept his distance from Lie. He had been polite, but cold and unfriendly. This unexpected second cable was in broken English, although the man had always used English correctly in the past. And the message from the unfriendly Russian was that he would not return to his post because of illness — the same message that Sobolev had promised to send, but didn't send.

On top of this mystery, Sobolev was appointed Russian ambassador to Poland and sent back to the United Nations this month as a Soviet delegate. But he is not the old Sobolev anymore. He is now cold and formal, acts as if he hardly knows his old friend, Trygve Lie.

Matter Of Fact

By JOSEPH ALSOP

BONN, Germany
The Schaumburg Palais, from which wise old Conrad Adenauer rules this country, can serve as a pretty good symbol of what has happened in Western Germany since the end of the war.

Like most of Germany, the once proud and pretentious Bonn residence of the princes of Schaumburg-Lippe was very far from improved by the war. None the less, it was about the best that Bonn had to offer, when the new West German government was established. To serve Adenauer as the equivalent of the White House, the battered old place was first hastily patched up; then entirely refitted in the rather bleak, efficient modified North German-Lloyd style that so many Germans like nowadays.

And in its new guise, with its fresh white paint, its stately tidy gardens, and its air of incipient prosperity, the Schaumburg Palais seems to proclaim, firmly and even with a certain smugness, Germany's power to build a new life out of the ruins.

Here reigns—for the present at least, reign is nearest one can come to the right word—Conrad Adenauer, one of the truly remarkable men of the West. Aged but indestructible, the leader of the Christian Democrats, the chancellor of West Germany, offers his visitors an impenetrable facade of irreconcilable contradictions.

He is so provincial that he hates to be more than 50 miles from his native Cologne. Yet no one better understands men, nations and the world. He is notoriously wily. Yet when he says he will do something, he invariably meets his contract. He is profoundly cynical. Yet he has worked and is working towards a bold ideal of a democratic Germany incorporated in a united Europe.

Has No Contemporary

At this moment, Adenauer towers over the German scene. An accumulation of fearful illnesses and wounds has at least removed his great adversary, the brave, tortured and terrible Dr. Schumacher. The able and moderate Dr. Ollenhauer, the new chieftain of the Social Democrats will hardly oppose Adenauer in the manner of Schumacher, who transformed German politics into a sort of perpetual duel to the death between Adenauer and himself. With Schumacher gone, Adenauer has no contemporary, and no equal.

At this moment, moreover, Adenauer can look around him and see many causes for satisfaction. The Bonn government, the experiment that once seemed so frail and almost hopeless, has at last become the true government of Western Germany, with an authority recognized by the whole German people. Simultaneously, West Germany has achieved an extraordinary recovery. Factories and houses are everywhere replacing rubble and ruins. Jobs are opening for the great mass of postwar refugees and unemployed. Hard work and bold enterprises are making Germany a decent place to live again. For any leader of a people, all this must mean much.

But Conrad Adenauer is one German who will always tell you: "It is foolish to talk only about Germany. You cannot discuss Germany nowadays without talking too about France and Italy and the other nations which compose the Europe of the future, and about this 'European' relation to the West." And in this matter of "building Europe," Adenauer can also point to great progress.

The Schuman plan has passed and has been put in operation. At Luxembourg Jean Monnet and his team of Germans, Italians, Belgians and Netherlands are even now preparing to open a single, united, European market for coal and steel, and to give Europe a market of 150,000,000 people. Earnestly working with the other nations' representatives, Adenauer's ex-Trades-Unionist Defense minister, and his two quiet-spoken, singularly lucid-minded generals, Speidel and Heusinger, have all but completed practical, detailed planning for a European army.

Some Danger Signals

For his part, Adenauer is sardonically certain that he can get the German parliament to accept both the European army and the so-called contractual agreements which will officially end the Allied occupation. He can look forward, indeed, to the time when a securely defended Western Europe will put the capstone on its own work of reconstruction, by placing above the Schuman plan and the European army a truly European political authority.

One can see, in truth, why Conrad Adenauer has reason to appear confident. Yet there are also grim danger signals. As in Britain, so here in Germany, the whole economy is at the mercy of the American business curve. A slight American recession can precipitate a deep German depression; and depression will open the way in Germany for the neo-Nazis who are already growing bold. By the same token, the European army, although passed here, can be defeated in Paris, and this defeat will soon bring down the whole structure of European unity and Western defense.

"The roof is on, the walls are up," said Adenauer the other day, in his quiet, dry manner. "But if the roof is not carefully and quickly put on, the hard weather of our times will soon destroy everything that has been built up in these last troubled years." It seemed a good message to an America busily re-examining this effort in which Adenauer has loomed so large.

The Cabinet

The President's cabinet is not mentioned in the Constitution. George Washington gathered it together among his chief administrative officers because he needed advice and counsel. In it he had such contradictory personalities as Alexander Hamilton and Thomas Jefferson, Federalist and Democrat.

From the formation of the cabinet, particularly of a new President, can be drawn many inferences if not conclusions. Without in any way reflecting on the personalities of General Eisenhower's cabinet, this article will discuss political relationships arising from the cabinet appointments.

It must be recognized that unity within the Republican party depends upon the willingness of the Dewey faction and the Taft faction to co-operate with the business men who are represented by General Lucius Clay. Thus, a committee to screen recommendations for appointments, consisting of General Lucius Clay, Herbert Brownell, Jr., and Thomas E. Coleman, representing the business men, Dewey and Taft.

Taft was asked to give General Eisenhower a list of recommendations. Only two on his list were chosen: John Foster Dulles, secretary of State, and Ezra Taft Benson, secretary of Agriculture. Dulles, however, was also recommended by Dewey, and Benson by Eisenhower's brother, Milton. Dulles has, since 1945, placed himself outside of faction; Benson has definitely been for Taft. While George M. Humphrey, the secretary of the Treasury, comes from Ohio and has been a Taft supporter, he was not on the senator's list and Taft did not recommend him. He definitely comes out of the business group.

This cabinet has no geographic pattern that is understandable politically. Maybe, geography was given no thought. New York and Michigan has been given a preponderance of offices. Dulles, Brownell, Wilson, and Summerfield come from these two states. Wilson and Summerfield are General Motors men, which is financially as much New York as Detroit.

George M. Humphrey lives in Cleveland, Ohio, but his business is scattered and is as much Pittsburgh as Cleveland, if not more so. While Humphrey has always been a supporter of Senator Taft, he in no way represents the senator or the Ohio Republican organization. Taft had recommended Senator Harry Byrd for the Treasury, and while it has been given out that Byrd would not accept, I am in formed that the office was never offered to Byrd. Rather, when Senators Taft and Bridges and Congressman Joe Martin spoke of Byrd, they were told that a commitment had already been made, but no name was mentioned.

Martin P. Durkin, the secretary of Labor, cannot be accredited to Illinois. Neither Senator Everett Dirksen nor the Illinois Republican organization proposed his name, nor were they consulted. Actually, he has been their enemy. Nor were any of the Democrats who supported Eisenhower consulted. He is a victory for the American Federation of Labor over both the Republican party and the Southern Democrats.

From a strictly political standpoint, the Middle West has been given no distinct representation on the cabinet, with the possible exception of Arthur Summerfield, who is entitled to the postmaster generalship anyhow by tradition because he was chairman of the Republican National Committee.

The Far West has done well. Those states got Interior, Douglas McKay, and Agriculture, Ezra Taft Benson. To them is added the vice president, Richard Nixon.

The appointment of Sinclair Weeks, as secretary of Commerce, will please New England. He, and his father before him, have been staunch Republicans with a record of excellent service for the party.

However, the appointment of Sherman Adams, as chief-of-staff to the President, with an ex-officio seat in the cabinet, raises a political issue of prime magnitude. Senator Bridges is one of the three senior Republican senators. He has the choice of being President pro tem, majority leader and chairman of the Appropriations Committee. At his option, he can hold any one or all of these jobs because they are his by seniority and service.

However, Senator Bridges will have to run in the New Hampshire primaries in 1954, and up to now, his opponent has been Governor Sherman Adams. The latter's elevation by General Eisenhower politically implies a Presidential preference for Adams over Bridges, which means a fight. A combination of Bridges and Taft could involve the President in tough sledding in Congress. The situation could be resolved by Adams withdrawing from the senatorial race.

The Southern Democrats, who left their party to support Eisenhower, have no representation in the cabinet.

Christmas Cards

Christmas cards now on display in all shops and stores are a hint that the holidays are not far away. These colorful cards provide a sentimental bond between Yuletide celebrations of the past and the present.

To moderns their arrival means the holly-and-poinsettia season has again arrived. Their sparkling, story-telling designs piece together a saga of Christmas through the ages.

Holiday parties pictured on many cards in gay colors, were actually started as "open house" over 1,000 years ago. The Saxon lords of Germany, after being converted to Christianity, opened their great halls to peasants and nobles alike at Christmas time. Together they feasted, sang, and exchanged gifts until the last embers of a huge Yule log flickered away.

Among the many religious designs are various reproductions of the Magi who brought gold, frankincense, and myrrh to the Babe of Bethlehem, beginning the custom of gift-giving at Yuletide.

Gold was offered to acknowledge the Holy Child's supreme reign over the world. Frankincense was a symbol of the worship due Him, and the bitter-sweet scent of the myrrh was a prophecy of sadness.

Holly, mistletoe, and poinsettia are perennial favorites with Christmas card designers. Yet little is known about their origin.

Holly wreaths are a symbol of the Crucifixion. It is said that when the crown of thorns was made from its branches, the then-white berries turned red.

Mistletoe was called "allheal" by the early Britons and it was thought there would be no sickness in homes where it was hung.

Poinsettia in its native Mexico is called "Flower of the Nativity." Legend says it was once a weed. Plucked from the roadside by a little wail who had no other gift for her cathedral, a scarlet radiance swept over the flower as she laid it before the altar on Christmas Eve.

Christmas tree scenes are as popular as ever. A widespread tale that all trees blossom with flowers and ripe fruits on the night of the Nativity inspired the modern custom of decorating the Christmas tree. This story was first told by an Arabian geographer, back in the 10th Century.

Some cards this year are in the form of a Christmas card booklet, with words and music of a different carol on each page. Others are illustrated with colorful choral groups gathered on street corners or in churches.

Of course no panorama of Christmas cards is complete without the thousands which portray Santa Claus. These rank among the 10 most popular designs each year.

Santa is the modern descendant of St. Nicholas, a kindly bishop who lived in Asia Minor about 1,600 years ago. Early Dutch settlers brought tales of his generous, fun-loving nature to America.

The first typical Christmas cards were published 110 years ago, and the custom of wishing loved ones a good, old-fashioned "Merry Christmas" grows with the passing years.

Unsung Individualists

Year after year, month after month, day after day, the unknown, unsung inventors of America go on turning out their creations. Most of their products never get more than a number on file in the patent office, and many never attain even that distinction.

But the individualists who invent without being on a corporation payroll have fun trying, and there's always the chance they will hit on something simple but lucrative, like Eskimo pie. Besides, patent lawyers must live, presumably.

There's a gentleman in California who likes to shave after taking a shower. The trouble with that, as who doesn't know, is that the shower fogs the mirror. So the bright gentleman in California has patented a bathroom fog eliminator. If enough bathed-and-then-shave addicts beat a path to his door, he'll be able to hire a personal barber. If not, he can still shave untroubled after a shower.

A Connecticut gentleman, meanwhile, has patented an invention that fills a heartfelt need. Ask any husband whose wife has the habit of waiting until he is stretched out with pipe and slippers before saying: "I need somebody big and strong to shake out this dust mop for me." Yep, he has an automatic electric dustmopshaker. Whatever it costs, it's worth it.

Still another inventor, this time from Pennsylvania, has invented a substitute for wives. Not a complete substitute, but one that keeps the heels of a man's socks holeless, which is an improvement on some wives. He patented a leather heel for socks.

Most of these gadgets—the Patent Office issues periodic announcements about the latest brainstorms that have unraveled its red tape—sound like the kind of thing that appeals to Christmas shoppers as just the gift for Uncle Arnold. Maybe they are, at that.

NATO's Problems

It is fairly obvious at this point that armament goals set previously by the North Atlantic Treaty Organization nations will not be met at deadline time. For example, West Germany has notified General Ridgway's headquarters that it will be unable to meet the July 1954 deadline for putting eight infantry and four armored divisions in the field.

Similarly, a lag in personnel procurement among most of the European member nations will find the goal of 25 active and 25 reserve divisions of the new European defense army unfulfilled at the deadline which rolls round next July 1.

But the military outlook may be brighter than it would appear to be. This is the view of Ambassador Frederick L. Anderson, who is number two man in the Mutual Assistance setup. Mr. Anderson, a wartime air general, recently told a group of foreign correspondents in Washington that the tougher future problems facing NATO are political, moral and economic, rather than military.

The Russians, having failed in their effort to check Western rearmament by threats, will begin probing at a weaker spot—the economic relationship between the various NATO nations—he predicts.

Drinkers Need More Vitamin B

Many alcoholics drink in secret and the habit is never detected until they develop complications. Neuritis of the arms and legs is among the most prevalent ailments, more so in women who take frequent naps by day when no one else is around. These tipplers make the mistake of neglecting to eat and thereby set the foundation for the vitamin deficiency that is responsible for neuritis.

It is a well established fact that large amounts of good whisky or other spirituous drinks can be consumed over a long period of time without producing neuritis, provided an adequate diet is followed. When neuritis occurs, it is indistinguishable from the nerve condition associated with pellagra, which also results from a deficiency of vitamin B.

Apparently alcohol requires thiamin (vitamin B) to be metabolized by the body and when large quantities of booze are taken there is a greater demand for this vitamin. By eating properly, the needs are met but when the drinker forgets his meals the thiamin supply is exhausted quickly. Consequently the alcoholic may develop not only neuritis but cirrhosis of the liver and other complications.

In other instances, alcoholic neuritis is brought on by a toxic condition such as that following the ingestion of wood alcohol, Jamaica gin, or canned heat. Toxicity also may stem from the use of bromides or barbiturates which the alcoholic often takes to offset the jitters. Undoubtedly some neurological disorders are traceable to head injuries suffered in sprees either thru falls or fights.

Alcoholic neuritis usually comes on so slowly the drinker might find it difficult to recall when discomfort started. There may be a feeling of excessive warmth, coldness, numbness, and tingling, a condition known medically as parasthesia. These bizarre symptoms may escape detection for months because most alcoholics have learned to accept minor annoyances. The situation changes, however, when pain arises—varying from aching to severe cutting pains in the lower extremities. Cramping of the calves of the legs occurs at night and, with progressive nerve destruction, pain gives way to real anesthesia of the parts in which all sensation is lost. The muscles are affected also, first by weakness and finally by complete paralysis. Foot drop is common. Most alcoholics do something about the condition long before this stage is reached; some seek aid at the first sign of pain. Early treatment, plus the increasing use of vitamin B by drinkers, may account for the fact that physicians are not seeing alcoholic neuritis as frequently as in the past despite the increased consumption of alcohol among the general population.

Should this type of neuritis develop, relief often is obtained with large doses of vitamin B including the newer B12. To assure assimilation of the vitamins, an adequate diet is recommended. Meanwhile, physical therapy is required to restore tone and strength to the muscles. This means gentle massage, heat, and the use of the whirlpool bath for foot drop. Improvement is the rule in mild cases; the majority are able to walk within two or three days and, by the end of a month, the reflexes return and tenderness subsides. In more severe neuritis, the nerves are damaged permanently and complete recovery never occurs.

Mike Di Salle Urges Price-Wage Controls Be Kept For Ike; Air Force Will Advise More A-Bombs For Europe But None For Asia

WASHINGTON — Rotund Mike Di Salle, the ex-price administrator called in by Truman to make an emergency report on whether to dump price-wage controls, has written a vigorous recommendation that they must be kept.

Before doing so, however, he conferred with both Republicans and Democrats, also went up to New York to lunch with gaunt, gray Bernie Baruch, the father of price controls. Baruch was adamant that controls must be retained, said it would be dangerous to drop them at this time, that an emergency might develop during the Eisenhower administration that would make them absolutely necessary.

Conferring with Sen. Cabot Lodge, Eisenhower's liaison man in Washington, Di Salle urged that a Republican be sent over to the Office of Price Stabilization so as to become familiar with that difficult problem.

Conferring with Secretary of Defense Lovett, Di Salle was told that keeping 3,500,000 men under arms, even without new equipment, would cost a total of $25,000,000,000 a year. Therefore some sort of controls must be kept to guard against inflation.

In the end, Di Salle informed Truman that it would be unfair to the Eisenhower administration to drop controls at this time.

NOTE — The man who urged ending controls and who came within a hair's breadth of putting his ideas across was soft-spoken, busybody John Steelman, assistant to the President. He figured that by dumping all controls, Mr. Truman would get off the hook on granting the wage increase to John L. Lewis. In other words, Steelman wanted to kill the patient in order to cure an ailing finger.

Air Force Advice

Secretary of the Air Force Finletter will recommend to Republicans as he bows out of office that more atomic bombs be rushed to Europe in order to discourage Soviet aggression.

In the Far East, however, he will give the opposite advice. He will warn against using atomic weapons or taking any step that might spread the Korean War. For, while the atomic bomb can be used as a deterrent in Europe, Finletter feels it might touch off World War III if unleashed without provocation in Asia.

The somber Air Force boss, who has done one of the best jobs in Washington, is prepared to let down his hair and talk bluntly to the Republican who moves into his shoes. He will warn that the defense budget cannot be trimmed another dime for at least two years, that a 143-group air force does not allow enough reserve planes to care for losses, and that the best insurance against war with Russia is a powerful strategic bombing fleet, capable of penetrating to the heart of Russia.

After another two years of high defense spending, Finletter will advise that perhaps the defense budget can be cut to about $30,000,000,000 yearly, of which he believes the Air Force should get the lion's share. However, he will condemn in no uncertain terms Congress's meat-ax attacks on the budget. For example, Congress indiscriminately chopped off $130,000,000 last year, thereby retarding Air Force readiness by two years.

Concealing Army Costs

The boys at the Pentagon are pulling some quiet wires to have Sen. Wayne Morse, Oregon's independent Republican, taken off the Senate Armed Forces Committee. They don't like his persistency in probing into military expenditures abroad.

Morse recently came back from a trip to Europe and North Africa, began to ask disagreeable questions about military spending, wrote a letter to Undersecretary of Defense Foster for exact cost figures on certain operations. In reply, he got a maze of misleading figures which meant nothing.

Again writing to Foster, Morse demanded that the Defense Department quit giving him the run-around.

"I intend to get the information," Morse wrote, "or explain to the Senate the danger of a policy which denies to Congress data on the cost of our bases abroad."

"If the Pentagon fails to give me this data," the senator from Oregon continued, "I shall take whatever steps are necessary to advise the public of the concealment policy of the Pentagon."

Meanwhile the boys at the Pentagon are putting their heads together with GOP leaders, who do not like Morse, to get him removed from the Armed Services Committee. After that he will lack the power to probe Army costs abroad.

Mysterious Russians

UN Secretary-General Trygve Lie is still puzzling over the strange behavior of a Russian associate, who was abruptly recalled to Moscow to see his "sick son" but, before he left, promised to smuggle a personal message back to Lie by secret code. However, the wrong man sent the coded message in an incident that has all the flavor of international drama.

Lie's assistant at the United Nations was an amiable Russian named Arkady Sobolev. The two men became close friends, saw eye-to-eye more often than Sobolev dared admit.

Then, one day, Sobolev rushed over to Lie's house with shattering news. Desperately, he told about a cablegram he had just received from Moscow, summoning him home because his son was sick. Yet regular letters from his wife had contained no hint of their son's illness.

Sobolev suspected something sinister was in store for him, nervously arranged a secret code to notify his friend. If he was detained in Russia against his will, Sobolev promised he would send a cablegram in broken English explaining he was too sick to return to his post.

A few weeks later, Lie received a cable from Sobolev, but it was in perfect English. It declared that he would not be back, but the reason given was not that he was sick, but that his son had taken a turn for the worse.

As if this were not baffling enough, Lie got a second cablegram from another Russian associate, who had returned to Russia for a vacation. Unlike Sobolev, this Russian had kept his distance from Lie. He had been polite, but cold and unfriendly. This unexpected second cable was in broken English, although the man had always used English correctly in the past. And the message from the unfriendly Russian was that he would not return to his post because of illness — the same message that Sobolev had promised to send, but didn't send.

On top of this mystery, Sobolev was appointed Russian ambassador to Poland and sent back to the United Nations this month as a Soviet delegate. But he is not the old Sobolev anymore. He is now cold and formal, acts as if he hardly knows his old friend, Trygve Lie.

Matter Of Fact

By JOSEPH ALSOP

BONN, Germany
The Schaumburg Palais, from which wise old Conrad Adenauer rules this country, can serve as a pretty good symbol of what has happened in Western Germany since the end of the war.

Like most of Germany, the once proud and pretentious Bonn residence of the princes of Schaumburg-Lippe was very far from improved by the war. None the less, it was about the best that Bonn had to offer, when the new West German government was established. To serve Adenauer as the equivalent of the White House, the battered old place was first hastily patched up; then entirely refitted in the rather bleak, efficient modified North-German-Lloyd style that so many Germans like nowadays.

And in its new guise, with its fresh white paint, its stately gardens, and its air of incipient prosperity, the Schaumburg Palais seems to proclaim, firmly and even with a certain smugness, Germany's power to build a new life out of the ruins.

Here reigns for the present at least, reign is nearest one can come to the right word—Conrad Adenauer, one of the truly remarkable men of the West. Aged but indestructible, the leader of the Christian Democrats, the chancellor of West Germany, offers his visitors an impenetrable facade of irreconcilable contradictions.

He is so provincial that he hates to be more than 50 miles from his native Cologne. Yet no one better understands men, nations and the world. He is notoriously witty. Yet when he says he will do something, he invariably meets his contract. He is profoundly cynical. Yet he has worked and is working towards a bold ideal of a democratic Germany incorporated in a united Europe.

Has No Contemporary

At this moment, Adenauer towers over the German scene. An accumulation of fearful illnesses and wounds has at least removed his great adversary, the brave, tortured and terrible Dr. Schumacher. Council Meeting Is Attended By Hospital Student Nurses

A group of student nurses from Sacred Heart Hospital with the clinical instructor, Mrs. Jean Finley, were spectators at the meeting of the Mayor and Council yesterday.

Mayor Roy W. Eves welcomed them to the meeting.

The council approved a number of routine matters.

Payments authorized included $47.36 to Kenneth T. Hager, PO Box 117, for taxes on property located out of the city; $34 to Hiser Supply Company for refund on a building permit; $495 to the Maryland Municipal League for membership fee; $100 membership fee to the U. S. Conference of Mayors; and $52.85 to the estate of Jacob Burns for taxes paid in error on property acquired by the Housing Authority.

The application of Officer Luther L. Youngblood, who has reached retirement age, to remain another year on the police force was approved.

Council Meeting Is Attended By Hospital Student Nurses

A group of student nurses from Sacred Heart Hospital with the clinical instructor, Mrs. Jean Finley, were spectators at the meeting of the Mayor and Council yesterday.

Mayor Roy W. Eves welcomed them to the meeting.

The council approved a number of routine matters.

Payments authorized included $47.36 to Kenneth T. Hager, PO Box 117, for taxes on property located out of the city; $34 to Hiser Supply Company for refund on a building permit; $495 to the Maryland Municipal League for membership fee; $100 membership fee to the U. S. Conference of Mayors; and $52.85 to the estate of Jacob Burns for taxes paid in error on property acquired by the Housing Authority.

The application of Officer Luther L. Youngblood, who has reached retirement age, to remain another year on the police force was approved.

City Engineer Charles R. Nuzum, in reporting on a drainage condition on Wills Creek Avenue, said he had made recommendations to Commissioner Lucile W. Roeder. Mrs. Roeder said the condition would be taken care of as blacktop became available.

Circle Has Yule Party

A Christmas party featured at the monthly meeting of the Jean Rowland Circle of Melvin Methodist Church.

Miss Dorothy Street and Miss Mary Jane Friend had charge of the recreation period and prizes were won by Miss Edith Street, Mrs. Goldie Street and Mrs. Elva Dom. Secret streets were revealed and new ones selected.

Devotional on the topic, "Glory to the Newborn King," was led by Miss Jessie Perdue. Mrs. Street read the Scripture and Mrs. Marie Davis conducted the meditation. Others participating were Mrs. Betty Thomas, Mrs. Louella Martin and Miss Ethel Elbin.

Group singing of Christmas carols concluded the evening.

Others attending were Mrs. Viola Wentling, Mrs. Helen Walters, Mrs. Norma Manges, Mrs. Leota McClellan, Mrs. Ruby Roby, Mrs. Eleanor DeLaGrange, Mrs. Kathryn Perrin and Miss Louise Perdue.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. John Whalley and Miss Virginia Lee visited Pvt. Ronald A. Smith, Fort Meade, over the weekend.

Pastor Is Honored By Class

Rev. and Mrs. C. K. Welch were honor guests of members of the Lena Bucy Memorial Sunday School class of Bethany Evangelical United Brethren Church, Friday night, marking the 15th year the former has been pastor there.

Rev. Welch's first four years in the ministry were in Virginia after which he was in Westernport for 13 years before coming to Cumberland.

Group singing of two Christmas carols opened the program. After which Billie Jean Rice sang, "There's a Little Wheel a-Turning," and "The Gingerbread Man." A trio from the junior choir sang "Precious Lord, Take My Hand." They were Phyllis Fox, Linda Clark and Linda Fuller.

A skit entitled, "Ah!" was presented by Mrs. Goldie Twigg, Mrs. Mary Hosselrode, Mrs. Ethel Shumaker, Paul Long, Dennis Crabtree, Fred Goss and Donald Pennoy.

Other vocal selections were "Bless this House" by Mrs. Milton Robinson, "Short'n' Bread" by Rev. Robinson accompanied by Mrs. Nellie Mae Redhead, and "Make Believe" by Clarence Thompson and Mrs. Gloria Willis.

Concluding the program the honor guests opened the gifts which had been arranged beneath a gold and white umbrella with a shower of streamers. Refreshments were served by the class. There were 80 members of the congregation present.

Miss Helen Beck, Mrs. Doris Goldsborough, Mrs. Redhead, and Mrs. George Nixon were in charge of arrangements.

Girl Scouts Plan For Caroling

The recently organized Girl Scout Planning Board held its first meeting Friday at the scout house and outlined activities. Nine different troops were represented by the 15 girls attending.

Early arrivals played a Christmas stocking game and prizes were won by Judy Reinhart, Kathleen Neely and Carol Jean Hersch.

Letters of appreciation were read from the Associated Charities and Sacred Heart Hospital for the Thanksgiving baskets and tray favors the girls had made.

A Christmas caroling program was discussed and rehearsals began Saturday with 14 girls present. Plans were outlined for the weekly news reports to be given by the girls and the radio and speakers groups starting after the holidays.

At the January 9 meeting plans will be formulated for a skating party in February.

Social Chart

Vera Blinn Missionary Society will have a Christmas party tonight at the home of Mrs. William Suder, 416 Robbins Terrace.

Christmas music will feature the program for the Business and Professional Women's Club tonight at Central YMCA.

Mrs. George Henderson will lead a discussion of gardening problems at the meeting of the Garden Group of the Woman's Civic Club, tomorrow at 2 at the library.

Charity Dance At Thanksgiving Termed Success

Dinner Scheduled For Ticket Sellers

WESTERNPORT — Mrs. Sally Willey, chairman of the annual charity Thanksgiving dance sponsored by the Social Welfare Club held at the home of Victory Post 155, American Legion recently, announced at the meeting of the club in the recreation hall of Piedmont Trinity Methodist Church that the affair was a social and financial success. One hundred and four couples attended.

Members of the club who sold four tickets or more for the dance will be guests at a supper given by Erma Zeitlin, president of the club, at a later date.

Those selling the required number of tickets include, Mrs. Willey, Mrs. Roberta Phelps, Mrs. Dorothy Kight, Mrs. Catherine Richards, Mrs. Margaret Moran, Mrs. Eloise Michael, Mrs. Melva Stively, Mrs. Alma Boyd and Mrs. Minnie Staley.

The club voted a donation of $200 to be used to pack Christmas baskets for the needy families in the Tri-Towns area. Each member brought a gift wrapped for a child to be distributed along with the baskets.

Mrs. Margaret Daniels gave a report on the Red Cross Westernport Unit's recent visit to Westernport. Eighteen members served during the day's activities and 33 donors pledges had been secured through the club's members. Mrs. Genevieve McMillen presided over the business meeting in the absence of the president.

A Christmas party was held after the business meeting. The entertainment committee was comprised of Mrs. Roberta Phelps, chairman, Mrs. Sally Mamolen, Mrs. Frances LaFon, Mrs. Barbara Hoover and Mrs. Virginia Poland.

Mrs. Mamolen announced the program which included: a choral group of Piedmont High School, directed by Edward Seaman, sang "Jingle Bells," "Night Before Christmas," "Silent Night," "O Come All Ye Faithful," and "Joy to the World." A vocal solo, "O Holy Night," was sung by Joan Greenhorn.

Miss Helen Hayden read an impersonation of Dorothy Parker's dance. Mrs. Joann Wilson McCoy sang, "Away in the Manger" and "O Holy Night" with piano accompaniments by Mrs. Mabel Thompson.

Club members joined in group singing of Christmas carols, piano accompaniment by Mrs. Doris B. Mitchell.

Refreshments were served with the tables attractively decorated in the Christmas motif. Each member was presented with a corsage.

The next meeting has been advanced one week to Thursday January 8, in the Firemen's Room.

Whitworth asserted that no funds have been spent for school improvements at Bruce High since 1924, although Westernport is the third largest community in the county and the third biggest taxpayer.

Advocates of additions to Flintstone High School and Bruce High School, Westernport, will present their cases to members of the Allegheny County Board of Education at a meeting today at 3 p. m.

Spokesmen for the two projects have met recently with members of the Allegheny County delegation to the Legislature, and were advised to initiate their pleas with Board of Education.

Community Yule Cantata Held In Keyser

Annual Event Is Well Attended

KEYSER — The annual Keyser Community Christmas Service was presented to a capacity audience in the Keyser High School Auditorium Sunday evening. All seats were occupied and a great overflow of citizens filled the rear of the first floor and balcony.

The musical service was presented under direction of Mrs. Ernest E. Church with the choir from all Keyser churches on the stage and the Keyser High School band filling the orchestra section in front of the stage. The band, under direction of Nunzio Barbera, played three numbers.

Money taken in the collection will be added to funds being gathered in the city for providing food and other articles for the unfortunate at Christmas.

Following the prelude, the chorus and the audience sang "It Came Upon the Midnight Clear," and "Song for Christmas," followed by "The People That Walked in Darkness," by the chorus and quartet, with Rev. Robert L. Bridges, soloist.

The Quest, the second part, was sung by the chorus and a quartet, Mrs. Carlyle Kauffman, Mrs. Frances Sarullo, Robert J. Martin, and Rev. Bridges.

Scripture and prayer were given by Rev. W. Cecil Shepherd. The third part, the Lullaby, was sung by Mrs. Kauffman and the chorus. The offertory prayer was by Rev. Donald C. Anderson, and the offertory, "Contique de Noel," was by the high school band.

Forrest Cosner sang "O Holy Night" with the children's choir of 53 voices.

The fourth part, "Gifts," was presented by the chorus and soloist, Robert J. Martin.

Prayer, the fifth part, was a chorus number.

A choral benediction, "The Lord Bless You," by the chorus and Christmas Carols by the Keyser High School Band closed the program.

Accompanists were Mrs. Paul Dayton, and Mrs. Carl Peterson.

New Kelley Chapel Will Be Dedicated Sunday On Site Of Building Razed By Fire

KEYSER—Announcement was made yesterday by Rev. Robert L. Strickler, pastor, that dedication services will be held Sunday at the new Kelley Chapel of the Church of the Brethren, near Burlington. The new church replaces one destroyed by fire last March 30.

The program will open with Sunday School at 10 a. m., with Thomas Shoemaker, superintendent, presiding; morning worship at 11 o'clock, with Rev. C. O. Showalter, Port Republic, Va., as guest minister. Rev. Showalter was a former pastor of Keyser Church of the Brethren.

A basket lunch will follow the morning service.

At 2 p. m., a service will be held at which time Dr. Warren D. Bowman, president of Bridgewater College, Bridgewater, Va., will deliver the dedicatory sermon, followed by the dedication offering and Service of dedication.

Special music is planned for each service. Russell DeVore, Westernport, will be song leader. Since the fire, the congregation has worshipped in a small building built originally for recreational purposes. It escaped the fire that destroyed the church building.

The new church is located on the original site. It is 31 by 48 feet with a basement under the entire building. It is built on Gothic lines. The construction was carried on under supervision of H. E. Mason, contractor, Harrisonburg, Va.

The basement is of concrete blocks with frame superstructure covered with white asbestos shingles. The building is insulated throughout. The interior is finished with exposed trussed rafters, blended panel ceiling, blue walls, with woodwork finished in light oak. The church will be heated by forced hot air oil burning furnace and lighted by indirect fluorescent lights.

Board To Hear Pleas For New School Facilities

Advocates of additions to Flintstone High School and Bruce High School, Westernport, will present their cases to members of the Allegheny County Board of Education at a meeting today at 3 p. m.

Spokesmen for the two projects have met recently with members of the Allegheny County delegation to the Legislature, and were advised to initiate their pleas with Board of Education.

Earl E. Manges, representing the Parent Teacher Association, and Joseph E. Mullenax, public relations officer of the Flintstone Volunteer Fire Company, will speak for the Flintstone proposal. Manges said the 490 grade and high school students do not have enough class rooms.

Horace P. Whitworth Jr. will be spokesman for the Bruce High School Alumni Association at today's session. He said the Westernport school needs six new class rooms, a gymnasium and auditorium.

Whitworth asserted that no funds have been spent for school improvements at Bruce High since 1924, although Westernport is the third largest community in the county and the third biggest taxpayer.

Community Yule Cantata Held In Keyser

Annual Event Is Well Attended

KEYSER — The annual Keyser Community Christmas Service was presented to a capacity audience in the Keyser High School Auditorium Sunday evening. All seats were occupied and a great overflow of citizens filled the rear of the first floor and balcony.

The musical service was presented under direction of Mrs. Ernest E. Church with the choir from all Keyser churches on the stage and the Keyser High School band filling the orchestra section in front of the stage. The band, under direction of Nunzio Barbera played three numbers.

Money taken in the collection will be added to funds being gathered in the city for providing food and other articles for the unfortunate at Christmas.

Following the prelude, the chorus and the audience sang "It Came Upon the Midnight Clear," and "Song for Christmas," followed by "The People That Walked in Darkness," by the chorus and quartet, with Rev. Robert L. Bridgers, soloist.

The Quest, the second part, was sung by the chorus and a quartet, Mrs. Carlyle Kauffman, Miss Frances Sarullo, Robert J. Martin, and Rev. Bridgers.

Scripture and prayer were given by Rev. W. Cecil Shepherd.

The third part, the Lullaby, was sung by Mrs. Kauffman and the chorus. The offertory prayer was by Rev. Donald C. Anderson, and the offertory, "Contigue de Noel," was by the high school band.

Forrest Cosner sang "O Holy Night" with the children's choir of 53 voices.

The fourth part, "Gifts," was presented by the chorus and soloist, Robert J. Martin.

Prayer, the fifth part, was a chorus number.

A choral benediction, "The Lord Bless You," by the chorus and Christmas Carols by the Keyser High School Band closed the program.

Accompanists were Mrs. Paul Dayton, and Mrs. Carl Peterson.

Magistrate Defers Verdict South End Gaming Case

Joseph C. Wilson, proprietor of the South End Hunting Club on Virginia Avenue, entered pleas of not guilty yesterday in Police Court to gaming charges growing out of a card game.

After hearing testimony, Magistrate Donald W. Mason withheld a verdict until tomorrow.

Leo E. P. Law of the Detective Bureau testified he found a card game in progress at the club December 2. Three men around a table had cards in their hands and $6 was in front of one player, he said.

Law stated 11 men, excluding Wilson, were in the establishment when he checked the place while on a "routine inspection" tour. Ten men were seated at the table, he said.

According to Wilson, the club is chartered and has membership cards.

Law said he found the door open and walked in.

Explaining the absence of trophies in the club room, Wilson said mounted heads of animals had been removed due to dampness in the basement quarters. He presented a ledger showing about 84 members and dues collected.

Wilson said the money on the table belonged to Charles Butler, city, who had made several purchases. His testimony was substantiated by another defense witness' report that he and two other members were playing "setback."

No money was involved, the witness added.

Wilson told Magistrate Mason the club is a non-profit organization. He said a pool room permit was obtained some time ago since members use a billiard table in the place.

The pool room license was issued to the defendant, Milford G. Wilson and Henry A. Linaburg.

Work Is Resumed At Bottling Plant

Operations were resumed yesterday at the Coca Cola Bottling Works on Greene Street following settlement of a strike which started last May.

Officials of Local 453, Teamsters Union (AFL), said 12 members of the local were involved in the walk-out and all have been offered their jobs back. There are about 19 persons on the payroll of the plant. The union represents drivers and plant workers.

A settlement of the dispute was effected last week at a meeting in Richmond, Va., between company and union officials.

Toys Stolen From Woman's Home

Several toys and other items were stolen from a Woodside Avenue home Saturday night or Sunday morning, City Police said yesterday.

Mrs. Ida May Robinette, 511 Woodside Avenue, told officers that someone broke into her home through the cellar door and stole a set of boxing gloves, a set of dishes, a scooter, two dolls, a child's ironing board and cooking utensils, an electric iron, some jewelry and a football.

Police also are investigating an attempted breaking and entering at the Cumberland Brewing Company plant on North Centre Street. A watchman discovered the attempt Sunday night and notified police. Detective Lt. James E. Van said several windows were broken but nothing was stolen.

Three Cars Struck By Hit-Run Driver

Police yesterday were investigating a hit-run collision in which an intercity bus reportedly struck three parked automobiles on North Centre Street and failed to stop.

The vehicles, parked near St. Patrick's Church, are owned by John E. Carroll, 603 Lincoln Street; Thomas J. Boyle, RD 3, and P. W. Traynor, 841 Mount Royal Avenue.

Police were told that a bus scraped the left sides of all three cars while inching through traffic, but failed to stop. The collisions occurred at 7 a. m.

Fort Hill And LaSalle To Open Season Away Tonight

Sentinels Test Henry's Cagers In Hagerstown

LaSalle At Romney, Piedmont Floormen Will Host Central

Fort Hill and LaSalle will play the first of the basketball season tonight and both teams will be playing away from home.

Coach John J. "Bobby" Cavanaugh's Sentinels have what looks as a tough opener as they are slated to tackle Mel Henry's Hagerstown High floormen in the Hub City. The Maroon and Gray has won its last three games from Fort Hill, knocking the Greenway Avenue boys out of the state tourney in 1950 and taking both games of last season's series.

Hubs Have Split Even

Cavanaugh will select his starting lineup from George McGregor, Bill Kerns and Jim Farris, forwards; Bob Brant and Dick Bittner, centers, and John McVicker, Bill Burke and Jim Shipley, guards. Dave Ritter, John Poling and John Shore, regulars, were lost through graduation.

Hagerstown already has two games under its belt. Last week the Hubs opened with a 51-31 win over Williamsport and then suffered a 57-36 setback at the hands of Gettysburg.

LaSalle Invades Romney

Coach Arthur Slocum's Explorers blow off the lid at Romney tonight when Allen Swick's Romney High floormen will be met.

Romney opened last week with a 54-37 win over Wardsville High's Warriors.

LaSalle has a veteran squad headed by Marty Mullaney, Denny Shuck, Bobby Christ, Charles Kienhofer, Phil Geatz, Billy Dove, Richard Harris, Hugh Nolan and Barney Spearman. Missing will be Paul Ackerman because of the 19-year age ruling.

Central Tests Piedmont

Central and Piedmont, both boasting 2-0 records, will collide on the Piedmont court tonight. "Huck" Miers' Lions will play host to Allegany High on Friday night. The West Virginians have beaten the Alumni 56-37 and Elk Garden 70-44 while Central has knocked off Elk Garden 50-28 and Northern of Accident 51-42.

Victorious in the opener of their series by the score of 49-20, Beall will try to make it two straight when it invades Mt. Savage tonight for the first contest on the new school's court.

Ridgeley Opens Season

Chester Payne will make his bow as basketball mentor at Ridgeley High School tonight when the Blackhaws host the Alumni quint. Hyndman High, whipped three straight times, faces Barton High tonight in Hyndman. The Braves dropped their opener to Southern of Oakland last week, 45-29.

Augie Eichhorn's Bruce High basketballers visit Fort Ashby, Oakland invades Bayard, St. Joseph's High of Martinsburg plays at Paw Paw High School, Moorefield's Yellow Jackets go to Wardsville for a P. V. C. contest and Dunlap (Va.) High School is at Franklin, W. Va.

Cats At Morgantown

Potomac State, of Keyser, battling 1,000 in two starts, journeys to Morgantown tonight to tackle the West Virginia University Freshmen.

As You WERE

(This is the 23rd in a series of sketches with pictures of well known sport personalities of the past from the album of the Cumberland News Sports Editor. See if you can identify them by their photo.)

The year 1929 is one that this fellow and his many friends will long remember. His spectacular mid-floor shot that passed through the girders at the State Armory and swished through the basket with 40 seconds left to play averted a possible defeat for his team which eventually won in an overtime period, 32-30. With this victory on March 5, 1929 went the W.M.I. League championship. This had captained his team that year and it also won state honors by brushing aside Hagerstown, Catonsville and Chestertown. On September 1, the same year, he won another championship, outclassing all opponents in a tournament sponsored by the Baltimore Sunpapers and Play-ground Athletic League. In fact, he's still outstanding as a barnyard golfer. What's his name?

Freddie Hamilton, forward guard, was the star of the team. He is now employed as a fireman by the Cumberland News. He is now employed as a fireman by the Cumberland News. He is now employed as a fireman by the Cumberland News.

32 Years Of CCC Golf Bunny's Donora Dopee

Catherman Won Nine 7,700 Saw Grid Game By C. V. BURNS

The Cumberland Country Club, through the microfilm files of the Times-News, has completed a lengthy research job to determine the names of its golf champions over a span of 32 years and a checkup reveals that Charles S. "Bill" Catherman, Jr., winner of the 1920 fall tourney, is the leader with nine titles to his credit.

Dr. Karl P. C. S. Catherman, Jr., who won both the spring and fall events in 1920 when the tournaments were inaugurated, and is still active on the links, holds the runner-up spot with eight championships.

Martin D. Tenney, Jr., the "Boy Wonder" of 20 years ago, copped six tournaments and George Werkmaster won four.

Catherman, incidentally, has bagged his nine championships since 1935 while Dr. Heintz won all of his prior to 1936.

Here's a complete list of the winners:

Year	Spring	Fall

From Hot Springs, Ark., "Bunny" Buntag, manager of Lee Sala, the Donora, Pa., middleweight fighter, sends an interesting story clipped from the New York Journal-American and authored by Lewis Burton, pinch hitting for Bill Corum.

"The contention that a boxer has been made dopey before a fight by some circumstance or other is not new," Burton writes.

"In fact, it is generally accepted. However, Lee Sala, who henceforth may be known as the Donora Dopee, has come up with an entirely unique approach.

"His allegation that Carl (Bobo) Olson knocked him out in the second round at San Francisco, because he was made 'dopey by gas fumes in my dressing room,' is a variation that deserves a special award by the Boxing Writers Association. As a casual thought, it could be an innocent pair of boxing gloves inflated with compressed chloroform.

"Bunny Buntag, Sala's manager, knows all of the old tricks and so far has not distinguished himself for extraordinary inventiveness. He must get the accolade for the gas story, however, unless there is a minuscule measure of truth in it."

Burton points out that ammonia is necessary in the manufacture of ice and if it leaks it can render a person groggy for a relatively long time. Winterland, where the bout was staged, has its own ice-making machinery.

"The only reasonable solution in this situation, to determine whether Sala or Buntag are right," Burton adds, "is to rematch the fighters. Before the bout Sala should be required to inhale a reasonable amount of ammonia and then, if he is knocked out again in the second round, his story about the first fight definitely will sound plausible, if not correct."

To Jack Kilroy: Prior to Maryland's 34-7 victory over Michigan State on Saturday, October 7, 1950, here's how the teams stood in the Associated Press poll (First place votes included):

Rank	Team	Points
1	Notre Dame (63)	1,300
2	Michigan State (32)	1,298
3	So. Methodist (28)	1,296
4	Army (28)	1,290
5	Oklahoma (17)	1,285
6	Kentucky (3)	539
7	Texas (3)	502
8	Stanford (3)	464
9	California (2)	442
10	Washington	211

Maryland was in 26th place with 25 votes.

On the Saturday that Maryland beat the Spartans, Notre Dame was whipped by Purdue, 28-14.

Michigan State dropped to 20th place, Notre Dame flopped to 10th and Maryland soared to 8th position.

Victory D. Heisey, principal of Fort Hill High School, reports that attendance for the Fort Hill-Allegany grid battle Thanksgiving Day was 7,700.

This bettered the 1951 mark of 7,037.

The all-time high was 10,000 in 1948 when two undefeated eleven met and played to a tie. In 1949 the attendance was 8,971 and the following year the figure was 8,006.

William "Huck" Miers, of Miers, Miers and Miers, a trio of brothers who made athletic history at Keyser High School, is in his tenth year as coach at Piedmont High School but he has yet to send his Lions against Allegany High School.

The first meeting is set for Friday night at Piedmont and the game is expected to attract a large crowd.

"Huck" believes this is the first meeting of these schools in basketball since 1939.

In Sunday's game here the Jersey City Reds scored 17 goals in 36 shots in the first half for a .472 average and that performance proved too much of a handicap for the Old Germans to overcome.

The Brewers blew 15 shots in succession after they scored the first field goal of the game. That erratic shooting really put them behind the eight ball.

Altoona High School is seeking a new football coach. George Kavel resigned early in the season and Robert Thompson, who directed the Lions during the last six games, has been relieved of the job. Applications for the position will be accepted by Dr. A. B. Denniston, superintendent of Altoona Public Schools.

Moomaw Is Voted Lineman Of Year

Terps' Modzelewski Takes Fourth Place

NEW YORK, Dec. 8 (AP) — Donn Moomaw, a guy with double letters in his name who deals out double damage with his tackling, was the outstanding lineman in college football during the 1952 season, in the opinion of the nation's sports writers and broadcasters.

Moomaw, the All-America line-backer from U.C.L.A. was chosen in the annual Associated Press post-season balloting over 33 rivals from every section of the country.

Still Moomaw barely managed to beat out another big, rugged character, center Tom Catlin of Oklahoma in the balloting. Moomaw received 31 votes to Catlin's 29. Another line-backer, Dick Tamburo of Michigan State, was third with 16 votes.

After the top three, the lineman voting was scattered with defensive players receiving much attention. Dick Modzelewski, Maryland's big tackle, received nine votes to take fourth place. Guard Steve Eisenhauer, bulwark of the Navy defense, and Frank McPhee, Princeton's two-way end, drew eight each and Elmer Willhoite, Southern California guard, seven.

Tickets are still available for the banquet to be given Thursday night at the All Ghan Shrine Country Club by the Fort Hill Boosters Club in honor of Fort Hill's football team, 1952 city champions.

The affair is scheduled for 6:30 o'clock.

Ducats may be purchased at Wilson Hardware Store, Cumberland Heights Grocery, Truitt's Drug Store and the school.

Guest speaker will be Richard Cresson "Dick" Harlow, former football coach at Penn State College, Colgate University, Western Maryland College and Harvard University. In 1936 he was voted "Coach of the Year" by U. S. coaches and writers. Harlow also was boxing instructor at Penn State, Colgate and Western Maryland.

Victor D. Heisey, principal of Fort Hill High School, will present the James H. Hipsley Memorial Award to the student-gridders selected by the members of the team.

Dr. George M. Simons will be toastmaster.

Chancellors Cove First Half Title

Captain Tom McGeady's Chancellors swept three games from the Records last night on the Club alleys and clinched the first half championship of the Knights of Columbus Bowling League.

In the other match the Guards came out of the cellar by taking three from the Grand Knights.

High man for the evening was Tom McGeady of the Chancellors with 216-566. Other high scorers were Harold Wagner, Guards, 195-510; "Ike" Law, Records, 175-471; and Benny LaNeve, Grand Knights, 453. The standings:

Team	W.	L.	Pct.
Chancellors	28	11	.718
Records	19	20	.487
Guards	17	22	.436
Grand Knights	14	25	.359

Faloney, Morgan To Captain Terps

Halfback And Tackle Named By Maryland

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Dec. 8 (AP) —Bernie Faloney, 190-pound junior who must step into the shoes of All-America Jack Scarbath next year, was elected along with Bob Morgan today to captain the University of Maryland football team next season.

Faloney, who hails from East Carnegie, Pa., played defensive right halfback this year and filled in at times at the quarterback spot for Scarbath.

He averaged four yards per try rushing and completed 11 of 28 pass attempts for 176 yards. Faloney did much of Maryland's punting, as well. He is slated for the quarterback spot next year.

Morgan, a 235-pound defensive tackle, comes from Freeport, Pa. The 21-year-old junior was one of the team's defensive mainstays this year.

Morgan and Faloney replace Ed Fullerton of Pittsburgh and John Alderton of Cumberland who graduated this year.

The Redskins' franchise was moved here from Boston in 1937, and a rookie's name appeared on the lineups. Name of Baugh. It has been there ever since, until he has become an institution, almost a legend.

14,282 Deer Slain In West Virginia

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Dec. 8 (AP)—West Virginia hunters bagged 14,282 deer during the state's three day season which ended Saturday, well below last season's total kill of about 21,000.

Of that unofficial total, 8,104 were killed the final day, when a one-day season was in effect in 13 additional counties. First and second day kills were 2,854 and 3,324 respectively.

Best hunting by far was in mountainous Randolph County, where sportsmen shot 2,764 deer during the three-day season. The kill was 1,131 in Preston County and 1,035 in Hardy, both three-day areas.

In Tucker county 1,497 deer were killed during the one-day season.

Baugh To Quit After Playing One More Game

Will Close Football Career Of 25 Years

By ARTHUR EDSON

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8 (AP) —Sammy Baugh, possibly the greatest passer in football history, announced today he will retire as a Washington Redskins player after one more game.

Baugh will play against the Philadelphia Eagles Sunday, and then quit after 25 incredible years as a player. This is his 16th year in the National Football League. That's longer than any other player ever lasted.

The announcement concerned only Baugh the player. Baugh also is an assistant coach. It wasn't clear whether Baugh would return to help coach next year or whether he would stay on his ranch near Rotan, Tex.

It has been obvious for some time that Baugh was nearing the end. He hurt a hand early in the season. Even after it got better, little Eddie LeBaron handled the passing for the Washington Redskins. Baugh's only chore has been to hold the ball on tries for extra points and field goal.

As a pro, Baugh has gained more than 23,000 yards with his passes. That's more than 12 miles.

Born in Temple, Tex., in 1914, Baugh began playing football in junior high school, and became nationally known as a passer at Texas Christian University.

The Redskins' franchise was moved here from Boston in 1937, and a rookie's name appeared on the lineups. Name of Baugh. It has been there ever since, until he has become an institution, almost a legend.

1,497 Deer Slain In Tucker During One-Day Season

16 Arrests Are Made, Four Are Fined $350

PARSONS, Dec. 8—One thousand, four hundred and ninety-seven deer was killed in Tucker county in the one day open season on Saturday, according to the cards now on file in the District Conservation Office in Elkins.

Sixteen arrests were made in Tucker county by Conservation Officer Lester Miller during the week. He was aided by several other officers here for the special seasons in Randolph and Preston counties.

Twelve officers were needed for the biggest arrest of the season. Miller spotted hunters on Pheasant Run, Tucker county on Wednesday evening at 7:30 p. m. He radioed Elkins for help and told them of the flight toward Randolph County.

District conservation officers, Arthur Baughman and Wayne Stalnaker, along with Miller, Arthur Hamrick, E. Keith Hazzard, W. C. Bostic, James Fazzalari, R. V. Thompson, Clay Lee Miller, Paul Shaver, Frank Sloan, Howard Huff, Jr., and Ray Clemmons put up road blocks at Wilmoth Run Road, Lazy Run Road, Stalnaker Run Road, Harperton Road and Shaver's Fork Road where the last of the party was apprehended.

Those arrested in the one party included Paul Burr of Elkins, charged with killing a deer during closed season and was fined $100 and costs; Herbert Plant of Elkins, charged with conspiring in a game violation and Richard Burns of Miamisburg, O., charged with conspiring in a game violation. Both were fined $25 and costs. Fred Burr of Grantsville, charged with killing a deer out of season was fined $200 and costs. The men were brought to Parsons and tried before Justice of the Peace, Stark Coberly where they all pleaded guilty.

Clarence Platt, Edward Weaver and Wilson Jones all of Wellsburg were arrested by Conservation Officer Lester Miller on a charge of carrying a loaded gun in their motor vehicle and spotlighting. They were each fined $25 and costs when brought before Justice Coberly.

Seven hunters were arrested for hunting on National Forest Land without a National Forest Stamp and two for participating further in a deer hunt after killing their legal limit.

Wilson said the action means that O'Connor must cancel all engagements at high school basketball banquets and must refuse other invitations at meetings where prep athletes are gathered. The action became effective last Nov. 23 and will last until July 1, 1953.

Wilson disclosed that similar disciplinary action has been taken against another Big Ten coach. The coach will not be identified unless his school makes the announcement such as Iowa did today on O'Connor.

Ballard's To Drill

Ballard's Cleaners, of the High School Division, City Rec Basketball League, managed by Frank Weatherholt, will practice today at 6:30 p. m. at Allegany High School. Players seeking tryouts are asked to report.

Biggs And Wilson To Captain Bruce

WESTERNPORT, Dec. 8 —Gene Biggs and Robert Wilson, seniors, have been named co-captains of the Bruce High School basketball team for the 1952-53 season, Coach Augie Eichhorn announced today.

Both Wilson and Biggs are playing varsity ball for the third season. Bruce's game with the Alumni has been changed from December 12 to 11. The game with Mt. Savage on December 19 is at Mt. Savage instead of at Bruce.

Wilson sparked the Mountain Top drive with an individual tally of 292 points. Ken Edwards was high for the Avilton club with a score of 273.

At Bowman's Addition, close-shooting Hercules battered Fort Hill, 1146 to 1138, in a fine display of marksmanship. Jim Spitznogle's 289 topped the winner's list. Hercules' team total of 1146 set a new record for the current series, beating Mountain Top's 1141 shot on November 16, 1952. Fort Hill's Norman White scored 293 points as best tally for the losers.

A depleted Cumberland team posted a total of 801 to take a forfeit from Frostburg. Leo Leasure's 278 was first for the Queen City shooters.

Big Ten Places Iowa's Mentor In Deep Freeze

O'Connor Violated Recruiting Ruling

CHICAGO, Dec. 8 (AP)—In a disciplinary move disclosed today, the Big Ten has placed Iowa Basketball Coach Bucky O'Connor in a deep freeze by preventing him contact of any kind with prospective athletes for seven months.

K. L. Wilson, Big Ten commissioner, said that O'Connor violated conference recruiting principles last April 2 when he attended a private luncheon in a Quincy, Ill., restaurant and talked with Bruce Brothers about the possibility of enrolling at Iowa.

Afterwards, Wilson said, O'Connor visited the boy's parents. Brothers, a 6-5 center, won all-star honors as a prep at Quincy and now is starting with the freshman basketball team at the University of Illinois.

Wilson disclosed that similar disciplinary action has been taken against another Big Ten coach. The coach will not be identified unless his school makes the announcement such as Iowa did today on O'Connor.

Wilson said the action means that O'Connor must cancel all engagements at high school basketball banquets and must refuse other invitations at meetings where prep athletes are gathered. The action became effective last Nov. 23 and will last until July 1, 1953.

Fort Hill And LaSalle To Open Season Away Tonight

Sentinels Test Henry's Cagers In Hagerstown

LaSalle At Romney, Piedmont Floormen Will Host Central

Fort Hill and LaSalle will play the first of the basketball season tonight and both teams will be playing away from home.

Coach John J. "Bobby" Cavanaugh's Sentinels have what looks as a tough opener as they are slated to tackle Mel Henry's Hagerstown High floormen in the Hub City. The Maroon and Gray has won its last three games from Fort Hill, knocking the Greenway Avenue boys out of the state tourney in 1950 and taking both games of last season's series.

Hubs Have Split Even

Cavanaugh will select his starting lineup from George McGregor, Bill Kerns and Jim Farris, forwards; Bob Brant and Dick Bittner, centers, and John McKicker, Bill Burke and Jim Shipley, guards. Dave Ritter, John Poling and John Shore, regulars, were lost through graduation.

Hagerstown already has two games under its belt. Last week the Hubs opened with a 51-31 win over Williamsport and then suffered a 57-36 setback at the hands of Gettysburg.

LaSalle Invades Romney

Coach Arthur Slocum's Explorers blow off the lid at Romney tonight when Allen Swick's Romney High Pioneers will be met.

Romney opened last week with a 54-37 win over Wardensville High's Warriors.

LaSalle has a veteran squad headed by Marty Mullaney, Denny Shuck, Bobby Christ, Charles Kienhofer, Phil Geatz, Billy Dove, Richard Harris, Hugh Nolan and Barney Spearman. Missing will be Paul Ackerman because of the 19-year age ruling.

Central Tests Piedmont

Central and Piedmont, both boasting 2-0 records, will collide on the Piedmont court tonight. "Huck" Miers' Lions will play host to Allegheny High on Friday night. The West Virginians have beaten the Alumni 56-37 and Elk Garden 70-44 while Central has knocked off Elk Garden 50-28 and Northern of Albion 51-42.

Victorious in the opener of their series by the score of 49-20, Beall will try to make it two straight when it invades Mt. Savage tonight for the first contest on the new school's court.

Ridgeley Opens Season

Chester Payne will make his bow as basketball mentor at Ridgeley High School tonight when the Blackhaws host the Alumni quint. Hyndman High, whipped three straight times, faces Barton High tonight in Hyndman. The Braves dropped their opener to Southern of Oakland last week, 45-29.

Augie Eichhorn's Bruce High basketballers visit Fort Ashby, Oakland invades Bayard, St. Joseph's High of Martinsburg plays at Pay Paw High School, Moorefield's Yellow Jackets go to Wardensville for a P. V. C. contest and Dunlap (Va.) High School is at Franklin, W. Va.

Cats At Morgantown
Potomac State, of Keyser, battling 1,000 in two starts, journeys to Morgantown tonight to tackle the West Virginia University Freshmen.

The year 1929 is one that this fellow and his many friends will long remember. His spectacular mid-floor shot that passed through the girders at the State Armory and swished through the basket with 40 seconds left to play averted possible defeat for his team which eventually won in an overtime period, 32-30.

With this victory on March 5, 1929 went the W.M.I. League championship. This lad captained his team that year and it also won state honors by brushing aside Hagerstown, Catonsville and Chestertown. On September 1, the same year, he won another championship, outclassing all opponents in a tournament sponsored by the Baltimore Sunpapers and Play-ground Athletic League. 32 Years Of CCC Golf Bunny's Donora Dopee

Catherman Won Nine 7,700 Saw Grid Game
By C. V. BURNS

The Cumberland Country Club, through the microfilm files of the Times-News, has completed a lengthy research

job to determine the names of its golf champions over a span of 32 years and a check-up reveals that Charles S. "Bill" Catherman, Jr., winner of the 1952 fall tourney, is the leader with nine titles to his credit.

Dr. Karl P. C. S. Catherman, Jr. Heintz, who won both the spring and fall events in 1920 when the tournaments were inaugurated, and is still active on the links, holds the runner-up spot with eight championships.

Martin D. Tenney, Jr., the "Boy Wonder" of 20 years ago, copped six tournaments and George Werkmeister won four.

Catherman, incidentally, has bagged his nine championships since 1935 while Dr. Heintz won all of his prior to 1936.

Here's a complete list of the winners:

Faloney, who hails from East Carnegie, Pa., played defensive right halfback this year and filled in at times at the quarterback spot for Scarbath.

He averaged four yards per try rushing and completed 11 of 28 pass attempts for 176 yards. Faloney did much of Maryland's punting, as well. He is slated for the quarterback spot next year.

Morgan, a 235-pound defensive tackle, comes from Freeport, Pa. The 21-year-old junior was one of the team's defensive mainstays this year.

Morgan and Faloney replace Ed Fullerton of Pittsburgh and John Alderton of Cumberland who graduated.

14,282 Deer Slain In West Virginia

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Dec. 8 (AP)—West Virginia hunters bagged 14,282 deer during the state's three day season which ended Saturday, well below last season's total kill of about 21,000.

Of that unofficial total, 8,104 were killed the final day, when a one-day season was in effect in 13 additional counties. First and second day kills were 2,854 and 3,324 respectively.

Best hunting by far was in mountainous Randolph County, where sportsmen shot 2,764 deer during the three-day season. The kill was 1,131 in Preston County and 1,035 in Hardy, both three-day areas.

In Tucker county 1,497 deer were killed during the one-day season.

Baugh To Quit After Playing One More Game

Will Close Football Career Of 25 Years

By ARTHUR EDSON

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8 (AP)—Sammy Baugh, possibly the greatest passer in football history, announced today he will retire as a Washington Redskins player after one more game.

Baugh will play against the Philadelphia Eagles Sunday, and then quit after 25 incredible years as a player. This is his 16th year in the National Football League. That's longer than any other player ever lasted.

The announcement concerned only Baugh the player. Baugh also is an assistant coach. It wasn't clear whether Baugh would return to help coach next year or whether he would stay on his ranch near Rotan, Tex.

It has been obvious for some time that Baugh was nearing the end. He hurt a hand early in the season. Even after it got better, little Eddie LeBaron handled the passing for the Washington Redskins. Baugh's only chore has been to hold the ball on tries for extra points and field goal.

As a pro, Baugh has gained more than 23,000 yards with his passes. That's more than 12 miles.

Born in Temple, Tex., in 1914, Baugh began playing football in junior high school, and became nationally known as a passer at Texas Christian University.

The Redskins' franchise was moved here from Boston in 1937, and a rookie's name appeared on the lineups. Name of Baugh. It has been there ever since, until he has become an institution, almost a legend.

1,497 Deer Slain In Tucker During One-Day Season

16 Arrests Are Made, Four Are Fined $350

PARSONS, Dec. 8—One thousand, four hundred and ninety-seven deer were killed in Tucker county in the one day open season on Saturday, according to the cards now on file in the District Conservation Office in Elkins.

Sixteen arrests were made in Tucker county by Conservation Officer Lester Miller during the week. He was aided by several other officers here for the special seasons in Randolph and Preston counties.

Twelve officers were needed for the biggest arrest of the season. Miller spotted hunters on Pheasant Run, Tucker county on Wednesday evening at 7:30 p. m. He radioed Elkins for help and told them of the flight toward Randolph County.

District conservation officers, Arthur Baughman and Wayne Stalnaker, along with Miller, Arthur Hamrick, E. Keith Holesberry, W. C. Bostic, James Fazalare, R. V. Thompson, Clay Lee Miller, Paul Shaver, Frank Sloan, Howard Huff, Jr., and Ray Celmons put up road blocks at Wilmoth Run Road, Lazy Run Road, Stalnaker Run Road, Harperton Road and Shaver's Fork Road, where the last of the party was apprehended.

Those arrested in the one party included Paul Burr of Elkins, charged with killing a deer during closed season and was fined $100 and costs; Herbert Plant of Elkins, charged with conspiring in a game violation and Richard Burns of Miamisburg, O., charged with conspiring in a game violation. Both were fined $25 and costs. Fred Burr of Grantsville, charged with killing a deer out of season was fined $200 and costs. The men were brought to Parsons and tried before Justice of the Peace, Stark Coberly where they all pleaded guilty.

Clarence Platt, Edward Weaver and Wilson Jones all of Wellsburg were arrested by Conservation Officer Lester Miller on a charge of carrying a loaded gun in their motor vehicle and spotlighting. They were each fined $25 and costs when brought before Justice Coberly.

Seven hunters were arrested for hunting on National Forest Land without a National Forest Stamp and two for participating further in a deer hunt after killing their legal limit.

Ballard's To Drill

Ballard's Cleaners, of the High School Division, City Rec Basketball League, managed by Frank Weatherholt, will practice today at 6:30 p. m. at Allegheny High School. Players seeking tryouts are asked to report.

Biggs And Wilson To Captain Bruce

WESTERNPORT, Dec. 8 — Gene Biggs and Robert Wilson, seniors, have been named co-captains of the Bruce High School basketball team for the 1952-53 season, Coach Augie Eichhorn announced today.

Both Wilson and Biggs are playing varsity ball for the third season.

Bruce's game with the Alumni has been changed from December 12 to 11. The game with Mt. Savage on December 19 is at Mt. Savage instead of at Bruce.

Big Ten Places Iowa's Mentor In Deep Freeze

O'Connor Violated Recruiting Ruling

CHICAGO, Dec. 8 (AP)—In a disciplinary move disclosed today, the Big Ten has placed Iowa Basketball Coach Bucky O'Connor in a deep freeze by preventing him contact of any kind with prospective athletes for seven months.

K. L. Wilson, Big Ten commissioner, said that O'Connor violated conference recruiting principles last April 2 when he attended a private luncheon in a Quincy, Ill., restaurant and talked with Bruce Brothers about the possibility of enrolling at Iowa.

Afterwards, Wilson said, O'Connor visited the boy's parents. Brothers, a 6-5 center, won all-star honors as a prep at Quincy and now is starting with the freshman basketball team at the University of Illinois.

Wilson disclosed that similar disciplinary action has been taken against another Big Ten coach. The coach will not be identified unless his school makes the announcement such as Iowa did today on O'Connor.

Wilson said the action means that O'Connor must cancel all engagements at high school basketball banquets and must refuse other invitations at meetings where prep athletes are gathered. The action became effective last Nov. 23 and will last until July 1, 1953.

Hann's Tavern Wins

Hann's Tavern captured two out of three games from the Woodmen of the World last night in the Allegheny County Men's Shuffleboard League.

H. Miller's 21 points was high for each.

Frostburg 0 5 100

Mountain Top riflemen copied their fifth straight victory by beating Avilton, 1132 to 1080, in the Western Maryland League's sixth smallbore match fired Sunday afternoon at Grantsville.

Wilson White sparked the Mountain Top drive with an individual tally of 292 points. Ken Edwards was high for the Avilton club with a score of 273.

At Bowman's Addition, close-shooting Hercules battered Fort Hill, 1146 to 1138, in a fine display of marksmanship. Jim Spitznogle's 289 topped the winner's list. Hercules' team total of 1146 set a new record for the current series, beating Mountain Top's 1141 shot on November 16, 1952. Fort Hill's Norman White scored 293 points as best tally for the losers.

A depleted Cumberland team posted a total of 801 to take a forfeit from Frostburg. Leo Leasure's 278 was first for the Queen City shooters.

The scores:

Seixas Upsets Frank Sedgman To Grab Title

Aussies' Ace Loser In Four-Set Match

By GORDON TAIT

MELBOURNE, Australia, Dec. 8 (AP)—Vic Seixas, the American Davis Cup captain, handed Frank Sedgman and the confidence of Australian tennis fans a severe jolt today by defeating the Australian ace, 4-6, 3-6, 6-3, 6-4, to win the Victorian singles championship.

Seixas' triumph came three weeks before the Davis Cup challenge round, which will be played at Adelaide, Dec. 29, 30, 31, and convinced the spectators that Australia's "sure thing" no longer is sure.

Aussies Not So Certain

Before today's final began at Kooyong, there were plenty of admirers around the courts prepared to lay 3 to 1 on Sedgman's winning his third successive Victorian title. Now they're not so certain that Australia can be certain of two matches in the Davis Cup final—Sedgman's two singles.

As soon as the match was over Seixas and Hamilton Richardson of Baton Rouge, La., prepared to leave by plane for Sydney, where they were to join Teammates Tony Trabert of Cincinnati and Straight Clark of Pasadena, Calif., and begin serious preparation for the Cup matches.

The Americans are scheduled to play either Italy or India in the Inter-Zone Final at Sydney, Dec. 18, 19, 20. Trabert and Clark arrived there Saturday.

Richardson and Maureen Connolly of San Diego, Calif., defaulted their mixed doubles semi-final at match point in order that Ham's departure would not be delayed. They were leading Don Candy and Mrs. Mary Hawthorn, 6-4, 6-5, 40-30, with Maureen serving, when they defaulted.

"Little Mo" Is Winner

Earlier today Miss Connolly became the third American to win the Victorian women's singles title, beating Julie Sampson of San Marino, Calif., 6-2, 6-3, on courts that still were slippery from three days of rain.

Mineral County Deer Kill Is 848 For Three Days

KEYSER — Conservation Officer Claude E. Rice, Mineral County, announced yesterday that the deer kill in the county for the three-day season, ending Saturday was 848. The small number is attributed to the bad weather during a part of the three days, especially the second day when there was a steady rain and visibility was low, due the heavy fog hanging over most of the country. Last year, there were 973 deer killed in the county.

The report of kills for each day, follows: Thursday, 314; Friday, 183 and on Saturday, 351.

Meyer Is Stricken With Heart Attack

PHOENIX, Ariz., Dec. 8 (AP)—Billy Meyer, recently released as manager of the National League Pittsburgh Pirates, "rested well" last night, the hospital to which he was taken with a heart attack said today. His condition, however, remains serious, the hospital said.

Meyer was stricken with the attack while in his room at the Adams Hotel and was rushed to Memorial Hospital.

Meyer, who recently ended a five-year contract as manager of the Pirates, had been attending the major-minor league meetings here as a guest of the Pirate club.

Notre Dame And Army To Discuss Football

CHICAGO, Dec. 8 (AP)—Notre Dame and Army athletic directors plan to meet next month to discuss resumption of the famed football rivalry between the two schools, a Notre Dame official said yesterday.

The Rev. Edmund P. Joyce, executive vice president of the South Bend, Ind., school, disclosed that Ed Krause, of Notre Dame, and Col. Earl H. Blaik, Army coach and athletic director, plan to get together to talk things over. The schools last met in football in 1947.

Father Joyce said no Army-Notre Dame game could be scheduled before 1957 because of commitments already made.

Seixas Upsets Frank Sedgman To Grab Title

Aussies' Ace Loser In Four-Set Match

By GORDON TAIT

MELBOURNE, Australia, Dec. 8 (AP)—Vic Seixas, the American Davis Cup captain, handed Frank Sedgman and the confidence of Australian tennis fans a severe jolt today by defeating the Australian ace, 8-6, 3-6, 6-3, 6-4, to win the Victorian singles championship.

Seixas' triumph came three weeks before the Davis Cup challenge round, which will be played at Adelaide, Dec. 29, 30, 31, and convinced the spectators that Australia's "sure thing" no longer is sure.

Aussies Not So Certain

Before today's final began at Koo-yong, there were plenty of admirers around the courts prepared to lay 3 to 1 on Sedgman's winning his third successive Victorian title. Now they're not so certain that Australia can be certain of two matches in the Davis Cup final—Sedgman's two singles.

As soon as the match was over Seixas and Hamilton Richardson of Baton Rouge, La., prepared to leave by plane for Sydney, where they were to join Teammates Tony Trabert of Cincinnati and Straight Clark of Pasadena, Calif., and begin serious preparation for the Cup matches.

The Americans are scheduled to play either Italy or India in the Inter-Zone Final at Sydney, Dec. 18, 19, 20. Trabert and Clark arrived there Saturday.

Richardson and Maureen Connolly of San Diego, Calif., defaulted their mixed doubles semi-final at match point in order that Ham's departure would not be delayed. They were leading Don Candy and Mrs. Mary Hawthorn, 6-4, 6-5, 40-30, with Maureen serving, when they defaulted.

'Little Mo' Is Winner

Earlier today Miss Connolly became the third American to win the Victorian women's singles title, defeating Julie Sampson of San Marino, Calif., 6-2, 6-3, on courts that still were slippery from three days of rain.

Mineral County Deer Kill Is 848 For Three Days

KEYSER — Conservation Officer Claude E. Rice, Mineral County, announced yesterday that the deer kill in the county for the three-day season, ending Saturday was 848. The small number is attributed to the bad weather during a part of the three days, especially the second day when there was a steady rain and visibility was low, due the heavy fog hanging over most of the county. Last year, there were 973 deer killed in the county.

The report of kills for each day, follows: Thursday, 314; Friday, 183 and on Saturday, 351.

Meyer Is Stricken With Heart Attack

PHOENIX, Ariz., Dec. 8 (AP)—Billy Meyer, recently released as manager of the National League Pittsburgh Pirates, "rested well" last night, the hospital to which he was taken with a heart attack said today. His condition, however, remains serious, the hospital said.

Meyer was stricken with the attack while in his room at the Adams Hotel and was rushed to Memorial Hospital.

Meyer, who recently ended a five-year contract as manager of the Pirates, had been attending the major-minor league meetings here as a guest of the Pirate club.

The Rev. Edmund P. Joyce, executive vice president of the South Bend, Ind., school, disclosed that Ed Krause, of Notre Dame, and Col. Earl H. Blaik, Army coach and athletic director, plan to get together to talk things over. The schools last met in football in 1947.

Father Joyce said no Army-Notre Dame game could be scheduled before 1957 because of commitments already made.

Good Time Is Voted Horse Of The Year

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 8 (INS)—The U. S. Trotting Association declared Good Time, pint-sized pacer from Goshen, N. Y., as the harness horse of the year for 1952.

Good Time, owned by Hambletonian impresario Bill Crane, won the title once before in 1950.

He was the overwhelming choice of 99 turf writers who gave him 909 points, 410 more than the runner-up, Sharp Note, a Hambletonian winner owned by C. W. Clark of Dearborn, Mich.

The honor topped a season in which the fleet son of Hal Dale-On Time won fame as the season's day declared Good Time, pint-sized high-earner with a record of $110.

This boosted his lifetime total of $318,792, also a new high for the standardbred sport.

DeSpirito Needs 20 Wins To Tie Record
MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 8 (AP)—Tony DeSpirito, the No. 1 jockey of the year, got his 368th winner at Tropical Park today when he drove S. Cardie's Jack Carroll, $5.60 favorite, to a nose victory over Elkcam Stable's Razoo in the opening event of a mile and a sixteenth.

Two lengths back of the fighting pair was Inezmuck. Twelve 3-year-olds clashed. The time was 1:48.

DeSpirito, who now has won four races here since arriving from Bowie last Thursday, is only 20 winners behind the American record of 388 winners set by Walter Miller in 1906 and tied in 1950 by Joe Culmone and Willie Shoemaker.

Patterson, Sabotin To Fight Dec. 29

BROOKLYN, Dec. 8 (AP)—Floyd Patterson, Olympic middleweight boxing champion who is undefeated as a pro, will meet Lulu Sabotin of Warren, O., in the top eight round bout of an all-star show at Eastern Parkway Arena, Dec. 29.

Promoter Emil Lence said today the Damon Runyon Cancer Fund will receive 50 per cent of the net receipts.

It will be Patterson's first main event and his first fight over the eight round route. The Brooklyn Negro won his first three fights by knockouts.

The three Maryland mile tracks, Pimlico, Laurel and Bowie, are to go before the racing commission tomorrow and work out the schedule for next year. The tracks split 100 days and Laurel and Bowie favor taking their 33 days consecutively rather than the split sessions of the past.

Pimlico is going to press for its traditional dates in May and November, Louis Pondfield said on the eve of the meeting on dates.

"We have got to have those racing days to successfully promote the honored Pimlico Stakes such as the Preakness, Dixie, Futurity and Special," he said.

Can you score a hundred on today's charm test? Here are a dozen common errors in speech.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

"She was charming until she spoke..." ran the headline of an attention-compelling advertisement of a few years back.

Though I never met its author, I'll bet a man wrote that line. How many a romance has been stopped short because, though the girl delighted the eye, she offended the ear!

Delete Wrong Doers

Your speech is a living thing. It develops or retrogresses, depending on how much you nurture it. Neglect it, and you are sure to find imperfections and flaws creeping into your use of language. Keep alerted to improve your expression and right up to the last word you speak it will enhance and grow in power and beauty.

A few of the speech errors that creep into usage without their perpetrators being aware of them are presented in the examples below. Try your hand at them by crossing out the incorrect words:

1. The expert accountant should (of or have) found the error. 2. I (will or shall) probably buy the supplies. 3. (Aren't I or am I not) clever? 4. We (dived or dove) into the pool. 5. Who would guess she had gone to (lie or lay) down? 6.

It will (lie or lay) there forever. 7. I wish I (were or was) you. 8. We (have or have got) to learn it. 9. The teacher as well as the student (was or were) impatient. 10. If I (was or were) you, I'd think it over. 11. He bought the silver because he (liked or likes) it. 12. (May or can) I check these now?

High Score Answers

Now check... and unless your answers coincide with these, you should spend an evening with the verb sections of a grammar: 1. Have. 2. Shall. 3. Am I not. 4. Dived. 5. Lie. 6. Lie. 7. Were. 8. Have. 9. Was. 10. Were. 11. Liked. 12. May.

Watch this column for the next quiz and in the meantime, continue to strike out those words that speak against your charm!

YOUR MOST ATTRACTIVE VOICE
You can achieve an appealing, resonant, sonorous voice—one that can be a vibrant attribute to charm and success—by reading the new booklet, YOUR MOST ATTRACTIVE VOICE, which gives complete instructions on how to overcome such wearisome speaking qualities as tonelessness, dullness and lack of proper modulation. Write to Secrets of Charm in care of this newspaper, enclosing 10c in coin, plus stamped, self-addressed envelope.

'Walk' Lights Planned For Baltimore St.

New "Walk" and "Don't Walk" signs will be installed at Baltimore Street intersections soon.

The bid of the Queen City Neon Company of $840 for the 12 units was the only one submitted to the Mayor and Council yesterday, and was approved on recommendation of Police and Fire Commissioner John J. Long.

Long said the lights will be installed at the George, Centre and Mechanic Street intersections. Money will be taken from the police budget.

The lights met opposition from Fay Thompson, 206 Elder Street, who said their installation is not logical since walk lights were recently abolished. Re-establishment of walk lights is "money foolishly spent," he said.

Long explained walk lights previously were not synchronized with the green and red. The new lights, which were given a trial period at George Street, are uniform over most of the country, he added, and should help pedestrians especially older people.

But Thompson said pedestrians are familiar with the present walk on green system, and that he didn't know if the new lights would make any difference.

City Attorney Thomas B. Finan said he assumed the lights would work on the same principal as now in effect, with pedestrians walking with traffic and having the right-of-way.

Can you score a hundred on today's charm test? Here are a dozen common errors in speech.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

"She was charming until she spoke..." ran the headline of an attention-compelling advertisement of a few years back. Though I never met its author, I'll bet a man wrote that line. How many a romance has been stopped short because, though the girl delighted the eye, she offended the ear!

Delete Wrong Doers

Your speech is a living thing. It develops or retrogresses, depending on how much you nurture it. Neglect it, and you are sure to find imperfections and flaws creeping into your use of language. Keep alerted to improve your expression and right up to the last word you speak it will enhance and grow in power and beauty.

A few of the speech errors that creep into usage without their preceptors being aware of them are presented in the examples below. Try your hand at them by crossing out the incorrect words:

1. The expert accountant should (of or have) found the error. 2. I (will or shall) probably buy the supplies. 3. (Aren't I or am I not) clever? 4. We (dived or dove) into the pool. 5. Who would guess she had gone to (lie or lay) down? 6.

'Walk' Lights Planned For Baltimore St.

New "Walk" and "Don't Walk" signs will be installed at Baltimore Street intersections soon.

The bid of the Queen City Neon Company of $840 for the 12 units was the only one submitted to the Mayor and Council yesterday, and was approved on recommendation of Police and Fire Commissioner John J. Long.

Long said the lights will be installed at the George, Centre and Mechanic Street intersections. The money will be taken from the Police budget.

The lights met opposition from Fay Thompson, 206 Elder Street, who said their installation is not logical since walk lights were recently abolished. Re-establishment of walk lights is "money foolishly spent," he said.

Long explained walk lights previously were not synchronized with the green and red. The new lights, which were given a trial period at George Street, are uniform over most of the country, he added, and should help pedestrians especially older people.

But Thompson said pedestrians are familiar with the present walk on green system, and that he didn't know if the new lights would make any difference.

"We have an obsolete town here, a horse and buggy town, and we have to put up with it," he asserted. Former Water Commissioner George H. Tederick asked whether the lights would allow time between the red and green signals for a pedestrian to cross the street.

City Attorney Thomas B. Finan said he assumed the lights would work on the same principal as now in effect, with pedestrians walking with traffic and having the right-of-way.

First Federal To Open New Building Dec. 15

Public To See Modern Structure

One of the most modern and unusual bank buildings in the country will go on display when the First Federal Savings and Loan Association opens its new quarters for business Monday, Dec. 15, at 141 Baltimore Street. Approximately 15,000 invitations have been mailed to customers and depositors announcing the opening.

Jurist Hears Bottling Plant Workers Appeal

Seven Say They Were Not Strikers

An appeal of a Maryland Employment Security Board ruling by seven employees of the Coca-Cola Bottling Works, Inc., 308 Greene Street, was taken under advisement yesterday by Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris after he heard arguments in the case.

The seven employees, all of whom contended they were not strikers and did not belong to the union, had applied unsuccessfully for unemployment compensation while the plant was on strike.

Examiner Rules

The claim examiner who first heard the application of the seven employees ruled that they were not entitled to unemployment compensation even though they were not members of the union and were not on strike. He decided that the seven would benefit from any concessions obtained by the strikers as a result of the negotiations. A special examiner and the Employment Security Board both upheld the original ruling which resulted in the appeal being brought into Circuit Court.

Appellants in the case are Raymond S. Adams, a foreman; George H. Lottig, a filling machine operator; John M. Williamson, supervisor of plant employees; Frederick H. Roberts, a route foreman; George W. Tipton, a maintenance man; Mason Cook, temporarily employed as an outside painter; and Robert L. Hinze, a bottler.

Resumes Operations

The Coca-Cola plant went on strike May 10 and resumed operations yesterday. Attorney John M. Robb represented the seven men in the appeal.

Another appeal heard yesterday involved Anna M. Hardy, a former employee of the Crystal Laundry Company, Inc., 201 South Mechanic Street. She had been employed as a presser of shirt sleeves and cuffs for almost three years. She quit after being transferred to a more difficult machine used in pressing collars and backs of shirts. Her claim for unemployment compensation was turned down by a claim examiner, special examiner and the Employment Security Board after which an appeal brought the case to Circuit Court. She was represented by Attorney William L. Wilson, Jr.

Judge Harris will file written opinions in the cases.

Three Injured In Tucker Co. Auto Accidents

Fred Long Reported In Serious Condition

Two highway accidents occurred within an hour yesterday afternoon in Tucker County, sending three men to the hospital.

Fred Long, 58, Tucker County State Road Commissioner and former sheriff, is reported in "serious" condition at the Tucker County Hospital in Parsons suffering a fracture of the skull, multiple contusions and abrasions about the body.

He is also suffering from shock, attaches report. Riding with Long was Scott Hovatter, 42, of Parsons. He is also an employee of the State Road Commission.

Hovatter is in the same hospital suffering lacerations and abrasions of the face and lower lip and lacerations of the right forearm. He was also bruised about the body, attaches added.

A tractor-trailer was said to have run into the car operated by Long about 4 p. m. along U. S. Route 219 at the entrance of the State Road Garage about one mile east of Parsons. The trailer was reported to have hit the car broadside. An investigation is underway by Sheriff D. E. Crosten.

About an hour later on Route 72, two miles from Parsons, Albert Kennedy, 45, of Mt. Morris, Pa., was involved in another highway mishap.

He is in the Tucker County Hospital suffering a fracture of the right clavicle, and right patella as well as lacerations of the scalp. Kennedy was reported as coming from St. George to Parsons when he hit a cow, causing his auto to collide with a truck and then hit a car belonging to Robert Felton which was parked in front of his home.

Last night the Felton car and truck were over the hill in a ditch. Sheriff Crosten is also investigating the second accident.

The three-story structure, completely modern in all aspects with one of its floors at basement level, will be open to the public for an open house tour of the premises all day Monday.

Finished at a cost of approximately $500,000, the plush new quarters of the fast-expanding loan association which has been housed at 56 North Centre Street will offer better and faster service to its customers, in addition to several new features which the company plans now and in the near future.

Have Safe Deposit Vault

One of the larger features to be utilized for the first time will be safe deposit accounts with the large safe deposit vault being housed on the basement floor. Planned for the future will be Christmas Savings accounts, officials of the association said. Another innovation will be the drive-in window in the rear of the building for customers who wish to transact business from cars.

Final transfer of the company's books, machines and records will be made over the weekend after normal business transactions are completed Friday, Lynn C. Lashley, president of the company, and Gerald L. Harrison, secretary-treasurer, stated yesterday.

In addition to the safe deposit vault containing 1,000 deposit boxes, four individual booths for the use of customers are provided on the basement floor. Also located in the basement is the directors' meeting room, toilets, lockers, a huge recreation room for the employees of the company, and a kitchen, also for use by the concern's working personnel. In the rear of the building on the basement floor is located the air-conditioning unit and the huge double-unit gas-fired furnace.

The building has a rear entrance-way to the basement as well as front and rear stairways to the street-level floor. A rear entrance also opens to the street floor.

All-Glass Front

The building, which opens on Baltimore Street, has an all-glass doorway and front and passers-by can see the interior of the bank, both at street and basement level, looking down the circular stairway which leads to the safe deposit vault on the lower floor.

A stairway and elevator to the top floor are located in the foyer of the front entrance. Business offices for rental are maintained on the top floor of the building.

The main banking facilities are located on the street floor which has accommodations for eight tellers, 12 deposit desks, a central switchboard, the loan department, president's office, bookkeeping desks, vault and drive-in-teller window.

Plush green carpeting covers the entire floor and the color scheme is highlighted by green and yellow walls and ceilings, all soundproofed. Lighting fixtures, air conditioning and heating vents are interspersed throughout the ceilings and walls with a recording system which will play music throughout the building. This recording system can be manually operated from any section of the office.

The loan department, located to the left of the front entrance, has three individual rooms for business transactions. The sliding walls between these rooms can be opened to make one large room.

The president's office, also located to the left, is circular in effect with a walnut finish. Throughout the building are boxes and wells for plants and shrubbery.

Assets Of $8,892,528.78

Each of the teller windows is a small office in itself, with cash boxes, desk, adding machines, phone and other necessary equipment. A feature of the window is the glass pane which permits the customer to watch the bank teller work but which blocks the view of anyone standing nearby.

Located to the rear of the teller windows is a large steel "rekor-desk" which will contain all the company files and accounts as well as bonds and cash. This desk is locked at the close of a business day by a combination lock and becomes, in effect, a small safe.

The new offices are the culmination of an expansion program by the First Federal Association which has risen from assets of $175,000 when it received its federal charter in 1935 to $8,892,528.78 as of Dec. 1, 1952. Association officers hope to go over the $9,000,000 mark by the first of the year.

Officers Suspended

The monthly report of Police Commissioner John J. Long, which was submitted to the Mayor and Council yesterday, stated that three policemen were suspended from the force for three days last month.

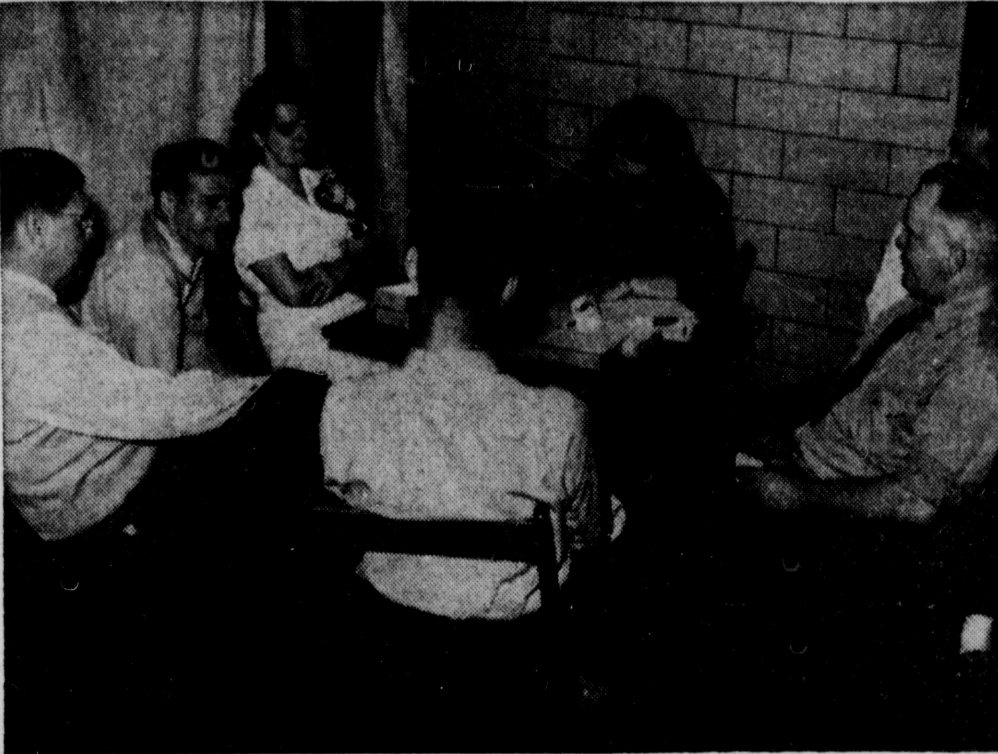

The officers were John Daum, Leo E. P. Law and Paul E. Penrod. Commissioner Long said he understood the suspensions were for reporting late for work.

Clinic Is Planned

A child hygiene clinic will be held today at 9 a. m. in Penn Avenue School. It will be followed at 10 a. m. by an immunization clinic. At City Hall, a heart clinic will be held today from 9 a. m. to noon.

BLOOD BANK DONORS NEEDED—These are scenes taken yesterday at the Red Cross blood bank at the Eagles Home, North Mechanic Street. A total of 106 volunteers appeared yesterday. This is an insufficient number to assure the continuance of the Blood Bank program here, and Red Cross officials said they need 200 volunteers today. The task of giving a pint of blood is a painless procedure. A staff of doctors, nurses, aides and other assistants are on hand to provide rapid processing and handling of volunteers so too much time is not lost from work, shopping or other activities. Red Cross officials point out that if

Cumberland is to continue to benefit from the Blood Bank program, and local hospitals are to be supplied with plasma and blood as needed by local sick and injured, the quota of 125 pints a day must be met. The Red Cross blood bank divides the blood between the armed services and civilian hospitals in local areas. Thus the program is a two-fold program. Local emergencies are met easily and with no confusion and the men on the fighting fronts are also given the blood and plasma they need. To meet this program completely, more local people must volunteer as donors. The Blood Bank opens in the Eagles Home today at noon.

City To Meet With County Delegation

Joint Conference Set For Tomorrow

The Mayor and Council will meet with the Allegany County Delegation tomorrow at 10:30 a. m. in City Hall to discuss legislation on the city wants passed by the General Assembly next spring.

The city officials will meet at 9 a. m., prior to the joint meetings, to discuss the proposals which will be presented for delegation approval.

The primary purpose of the conference, city officials said, is to attempt to secure some understanding as to what parts of the extensive legislative program the Delegation will be willing to authorize, and to learn if any parts of the program would be subject to referendums.

Just what price tag is to be placed on the entire program is not known, since engineering surveys on several possibilities have not yet been completed.

However, Mayor Roy W. Eves, in a talk before the Junior Association of Commerce last week, said the plan would cost roughly a million dollars.

The most urgent task was listed as the Frederick-Bedford Streets improvement project, which will cost about $500,000, half of which is to be borne by the federal government.

No costs are available for the proposed Industrial Boulevard in the South End, but Charles R. Nuzum, city engineer, who is pushing a survey of the route, has estimated the cost as about half a million.

Officials will check on the possibility of federal aid on the job if the delegation indicates tentative approval.

On October 11, the Mayor and Council met with the Delegation at All Ghan Shrine Club and presented a tentative legislative program which included bond issues to finance the Frederick-Bedford Street project, a $110,000 general improvement bond issue, improvements to Constitution Park and the airport, a new street paralleling the B. and O. from Bedford to Hay Street, boosting of the limit on the operating levy to $1.10 or abandoning the limitation altogether.

A Civil Service Bill will also be presented by the city for approval of the Legislature.

Other phases include freezing of present wage rates for city employees and a wage boost for the Mayor and Council. At present, the mayor's post pays $1,950 a year and councilmen get $1,560, which represents 30 per cent increases over base pay of $1,500 and $1,200 respectively.

Will Address Club

Mayor Roy W. Eves will discuss "The Future of Cumberland" at a meeting of the Kiwanis Club Thursday at noon in Central YMCA.

Water Company Plans Activities

The Evitts Creek Water Company held a special meeting yesterday afternoon in City Hall to discuss the possibilities of purchasing several small tracts of privately owned land on the city's watershed.

Officials said the owner of one of the tracts is considering building cabins on the plot, added that this would be a possible health hazard.

Plans were also discussed for having the Pennsylvania Department of Highways build about a mile of road between Lake Koon and Lake Gordon.

The meeting was preliminary to the annual meeting planned in January. The company is a Pennsylvania corporation which administers the city's water property in that state.

Present were Clifton W. White, president; Mayor Roy W. Eves, vice president; Miss Mary Clay, secretary; William J. Edwards, water commissioner; George M. Hitchcock, superintendent of the company, and Richard E. Snyder, Bedford, attorney.

Fort Cumberland Post Will Meet Tonight

An election for unexpired terms of several officers will feature the regular meeting of Fort Cumberland Post No. 13, American Legion, at 8 o'clock tonight.

Reports on the C&O Canal Parkway resolution, adopted at the Mountain District meeting Sunday at Kittlingville, will be received. The post also will discuss membership plans and preparation for the Christmas entertainment.

Moving pictures will be shown after the meeting and lunch will be served.

Cental Assembly Will Feature Gospel Singers

Two well-known gospel singers will appear at the Central Assembly of God Church, Johnson and Fayette Streets, at 7:45 p. m. Wednesday and Thursday, according to Rev. Frank J. Fratto, pastor.

They are Sal Hoopli, a native Hawaiian, and his accompanist, Professor Ray Odegard.

Hoopli, who has become known as "The King of Gospel," spent 18 years in motion pictures in Hollywood.

The Hawaiian native is a network recording artist and a lyric tenor. He also has gained fame as the inventor of the steel Hawaiian guitar.

Now that he has left Hollywood, Hoopli is devoting his full time to gospel work.

Firemen To Use Film In Campaign On Blasting Caps

City firemen have been promised the use of an hour-long film in their campaign to warn children of the dangers of handling dynamite caps.

Fire Chief Virgil A. Parker said the E. I. duPont de Nemours Company will send the film here on Feb. 4. Firemen will spend 15 days showing the film in all schools in the city and in as many outlying areas as can be reached in that time.

Parker said the film will be used in connection with a campaign begun last spring after two boys were fatally injured and several others were hurt while playing with blasting caps.

Miners Union Election Today

Coal miners in District 16 will go to the polls today to help elect international officers of the United Mine Workers.

Principal officers at stake are those of president, vice president and secretary-treasurer, currently held by John L. Lewis, Thomas Kennedy and John Owens.

All are elected by majority vote from every UMW district in the U. S. Other international offices and some district offices also will be at stake today, but none will be filled in this district.

William J. Morgan, secretary-treasurer for the six-county District 16, which includes parts of Maryland, West Virginia and Pennsylvania, said voting hours will vary with each local because of differences in mine shifts.

The 31 locals in the district include about 5,000 members.

Ridgeley Post To Fill Baskets

The movie, "Blondie In The Dough," will be shown tomorrow at 9 p. m. in the home of Knobley Mountain Post 136, American Legion at Ridgeley, for the benefit of the Christmas baskets for deserving families of that community.

Robert Davis, this city, is donating the use of the film, according to Robert Zimmerman, commander of the post. Admission per person is five pounds of sugar, five pounds of flour or three cans of foodstuff.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the post is aiding in getting foodstuff for the baskets, Zimmerman added. Thus far, sizeable donations have been received from the WSCS of Calvary Methodist Church and the Police Boys Club of the community.

Plans are being made for the annual Christmas treat and tree lighting ceremony scheduled Tuesday, December 23, at 7:30 p. m. opposite the Fire Hall. This Friday, a free movie open to the general public will be shown at the post home beginning at 9 p. m.

Four Boys Get Holstein Calves

Four more Allegany County boys have Holstein dairy calves and are eligible to join the County 4-H Dairy Calf Club, Assistant County Agent Joseph M. Steger announced last night.

The boys, John Loar, Vale Summit; Charles Ryan, Eckhart Mines; Robert Llewellyn, near Midland, and Robert Adams, Bedford Road, all obtained young calves Saturday at the ninth annual "Heifer Party" sponsored by the Maryland Holstein-Friesian Association at the University of Maryland.

John R. Adams, Bedford Road dairy farmer and father of the Adams boy, took his truck to College Park Saturday to transport the young calves back to Allegany County.

Some 30 high quality Holstein heifers, born between July and October, were sold at College Park Saturday. They were sold for a standard price of $150, low for the quality, in order to encourage young Maryland farmers to raise dairy calves.

No-Smoking Drive Urged In Stores

Hazards Are Cited In Yuletide Rush

Fire Chief Virgil A. Parker yesterday asked Cumberland merchants to stage a no-smoking drive in their stores during the pre-Christmas shopping rush.

Parker asked that store owners prohibit employees from smoking indoors during the holiday season, and asked that patrons co-operate by not smoking.

The fire chief said the danger of fires caused by partially extinguished matches and cigar butts is heightened by the continuous movement of customers in and out of downtown stores.

Boxes and gift-wrappings which accumulate quickly during the rush add to the danger.

Parker said most large cities have laws which prohibit smoking in the stores at any time, and the National Board of Fire Underwriters has urged wider adoption of such regulations.

Last year, the fire chief said, a voluntary campaign by local merchants was responsible for elimination of many fire hazards which usually exist during the Christmas season.

Parker said not one fire occurred in the Central or South Cumberland business district during Christmas week of 1951.

Two city firemen will be assigned to the Central business district each day between next Monday and Christmas Eve in case of emergencies.

Firemen also will be detailed to all large Christmas parties which are scheduled for children this season.

Air Pollution Is On Decrease

The heavy rains which fell in November helped to reduce air pollution in this city.

Dustfall averaged 8.85 tons a square mile in the city last month, as compared to 13.6 tons in November, 1951.

The November dustfall readings showed a sharp drop from October, when readings averaged 12.03 as compared to October, 1951's 11.61.

Officials attributed the high readings in October to the extended drought, and to excavation work underway on the Thomas Street excavation project.

Dust recorded in a jar at Post's Service station dropped from 37.51 to 4.54 in October. At the B & O YMCA, readings dropped from 41.58 to 34.65 and at Thomas Street, from 70.61 to 60.3.

George M. Hitchcock, smoke abatement engineer, said chemical analysis showed the dust was not of a toxic nature.

Resuscitator Demonstration Planned Here

Student Nurses To See Use Of New Equipment

A new type of resuscitator, used to revive drowning and asphyxiation victims, will be demonstrated this month for the first time.

The device, known as a pneolator, was purchased three weeks ago for use by the city's fire and police departments in emergency cases.

Firemen will demonstrate it to students at Memorial Hospital School of Nursing on Monday, Dec. 22.

The pneolator was bought to replace the city's old resuscitator and respirator, which officials said is outmoded. The old unit, however, will be kept on hand as an extra piece of equipment.

Use of the new gadget, according to fire officials, is extremely simple.

A mask is placed over the patient's face, and the patient is turned on one side. The oxygen supply is turned on, and the flow is adjusted for adult or child. The pneolator does the rest.

Chief advantage of the new machine is that no means of artificial respiration need be used in connection with its use. The machine automatically "breathes" for the patient. It carries a 45-minute oxygen supply.

City firemen will present the two-hour demonstration at the nurses home at the request of Mrs. Gladys C. Brooks, superintendent of nurses at Memorial Hospital.

PSC Hearings On Contested Gas Hike Open

Co. Seeking Raise In West Va. Also

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Dec. 8.—The Cumberland and Allegany Gas Co., carried into West Virginia today a petition for higher rates it already has asked to be put in effect in neighboring Maryland.

Hearing on the heavily protested petition opened before the Public Service Commission here, and after a full-day of testimony from company witnesses it was continued until 10 a. m. (EST) tomorrow.

Attorneys Donald K. Crawford of Elkins and James H. Swadley of Keyser appeared today, representing protesting cities of Keyser, Philippi, Piedmont, Elkins, Buckhannon, Kingwood and other smaller communities.

Company Attorney Richard A. Rosan summed up the firm's position in a preliminary statement to the commission which said rates must go up or Cumberland will have to abandon its 1953 construction program.

Also testifying, primarily as to financial data, were Vice President C. A. Massa of Pittsburgh and Ralph E. Badger of Detroit, an investment counselor. Badger is to resume his testimony tomorrow.

The utility seeks a rate hike amounting to $780,000 annually, to eliminate a deficiency of about $51,000 and produce a return on its West Virginia property of $392,000. The company said federal income taxes would take the remaining $312,000.

Rosan testified his firm lost $51,489 in the state during the 12 months ended May 31 this year and added:

"The revenues of the company have just not kept pace. It is not a question of getting a low return, it is a question of getting no return. If the earnings do not show an immediate improvement, this company will not be able to finance this construction program."

He said Cumberland plans a $2,700,000 improvement program for 1953. Company witnesses said rates it seeks in West Virginia are identical to those sought in Maryland at a hearing last Nov. 25.

Weather

The mild weather to which the city was treated yesterday is expected to continue today, although it may be tempered with light rains this afternoon or this evening. The official high yesterday was 48, although other parts of the state had high readings in the 60s and said the mercury would have gone higher if the overcast hadn't screened out the sun. The official low was 29, and at 6 p. m. humidity stood at 70 per cent.

First Federal To Open New Building Dec., 15

Public To See Modern Structure

One of the most modern and unusual bank buildings in the country will go on display when the First Federal Savings and Loan Association opens its new quarters for business Monday, Dec. 15, at 141 Baltimore Street. Approximately 15,000 invitations have been mailed to customers and depositors announcing the opening.

Jurist Hears Bottling Plant Workers Appeal

Seven Say They Were Not Strikers

An appeal of a Maryland Employment Security Board ruling by seven employees of the Coca-Cola Bottling Works, Inc., 308 Greene Street, was taken under advisement yesterday by Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris after he heard arguments in the case.

The seven employees, all of whom contended they were not strikers and did not belong to the union, had applied unsuccessfully for unemployment compensation while the plant was on strike.

Examiner Rules

The claim examiner who first heard the application of the seven employees ruled that they were not entitled to unemployment compensation even though they were not members of the union and were not on strike. He decided that the seven would benefit from any concessions obtained by the strikers as a result of the negotiations. A special examiner and the Employment Security Board both upheld the original ruling which resulted in the appeal being brought into Circuit Court.

Appellants in the case are Raymond S. Adams, a foreman; George H. Lottig, a filling machine operator; John M. Williamson, supervisor of plant employees; Frederick H. Roberts, a route foreman; George W. Tipton, a maintenance man; Mason Cook, temporarily employed as an outside painter; and Robert L. Hinze, a bottler.

Resumes Operations

The Coca-Cola plant went on strike May 10 and resumed operations yesterday. Attorney John M. Robb represented the seven men in the appeal.

Another appeal heard yesterday involved Anna M. Hardy, a former employee of the Crystal Laundry Company, Inc., 201 South Mechanic Street. She had been employed as a presser of shirt sleeves and cuffs for almost three years. She quit after being transferred to a more difficult machine used in pressing collars and backs of shirts. Her claim for unemployment compensation was turned down by a claim examiner, special examiner and the Employment Security Board after which an appeal brought the case to Circuit Court. She was represented by Attorney William L. Wilson, Jr.

Judge Harris will file written opinions in the cases.

Three Injured In Tucker Co. Auto Accidents

Fred Long Reported In Serious Condition

Two highway accidents occurred within an hour yesterday afternoon in Tucker County, sending three men to the hospital.

Fred Long, 58, Tucker County State Road Commissioner and former sheriff, is reported in "serious" condition at the Tucker County Hospital in Parsons suffering a fracture of the skull, multiple contusions and abrasions about the body.

He is also suffering from shock, attaches report. Riding with Long was Scott Hovatter, 42, of Parsons. He is also an employee of the State Road Commission.

Hovatter is in the same hospital suffering lacerations and abrasions of the face and lower lip and lacerations of the right forearm. He was also bruised about the body, attaches added.

A tractor-trailer was said to have run into the car operated by Long about 4 p. m. along U. S. Route 219 at the entrance of the State Road Garage about one mile east of Parsons. The trailer was reported to have hit the car broadside. An investigation is underway by Sheriff D. E. Crosten.

About an hour later on Route 72, two miles from Parsons, Albert Kennedy, 45, of Mt. Morris, Pa., was involved in another highway mishap.

He is in the Tucker County Hospital suffering a fracture of the right clavicle, and right patella as well as lacerations of the scalp. Kennedy was reported as coming from St. George to Parsons when he hit a cow, causing his auto to collide with a truck and then hit a car belonging to Robert Felton which was parked in front of his home.

Last night the Felton car and truck were over the hill in a ditch. Sheriff Crosten is also investigating the second accident.

The three-story structure, completely modern in all aspects with one of its floors at basement level, will be open to the public for an open house tour of the premises all day Monday.

Finished at a cost of approximately $500,000, the plush new quarters of the fast-expanding loan association which has been housed at 56 North Centre Street will offer better and faster service to its customers, in addition to several new features which the company plans now and in the near future.

Have Safe Deposit Vault

One of the larger features to be utilized for the first time will be safe deposit accounts with the large safe deposit vault being housed on the basement floor. Planned for the future will be Christmas Savings accounts, officials of the association said. Another innovation will be the drive-in window in the rear of the building for customers who wish to transact business from cars.

Final transfer of the company's books, machines and records will be made over the weekend after normal business transactions are completed Friday, Lynn C. Lashley, president of the company, and Gerald L. Harrison, secretary-treasurer, stated yesterday.

In addition to the safe deposit vault containing 1,000 deposit boxes, four individual booths for the use of customers are provided on the basement floor. Also located in the basement is the directors' meeting room, toilets, lockers, a huge recreation room for the employees of the company, and a kitchen, also for use by the concern's working personnel. In the rear of the building on the basement floor is located the air-conditioning unit and the huge double-unit gas-fired furnace.

The building has a rear entrance way to the basement as well as front and rear stairways to the street-level floor. A rear entrance also opens to the street floor.

All-Glass Front

The building, which opens on Baltimore Street, has an all-glass doorway and front and passers-by can see the interior of the bank, both at street and basement level, looking down the circular stairway which leads to the safe deposit vault on the lower floor.

A stairway and elevator to the top floor are located in the foyer of the front entrance. Business offices for rental are maintained on the top floor of the building.

The main banking facilities are located on the street floor which has accommodations for eight tellers, 12 deposit desks, a central switchboard, the loan department, president's office, bookkeeping desks, vault and drive-in-teller window.

Plush green carpeting covers the entire floor and the color scheme is highlighted by green and yellow walls and ceilings, all soundproofed. Lighting fixtures, air conditioning and heating vents are interspersed throughout the ceilings and walls with a recording system which will play music throughout the building. This recording system can be manually operated from any section of the office.

The loan department, located to the left of the front entrance, has three individual rooms for business transactions. The sliding walls between these rooms can be opened to make one large room.

The president's office, also located to the left, is circular in effect with a walnut finish. Throughout the building are boxes and wells for plants and shrubbery.

Assets Of $8,892,528.78

Each of the teller windows is a small office in itself, with cash boxes, desk, adding machines, phone and other necessary equipment. A feature of the window is the glass pane which permits the customer to watch the bank teller work but which blocks the view of anyone standing nearby.

Located to the rear of the teller windows is a large steel "rekor-desk" which will contain all the company files and accounts as well as bonds and cash. This desk is locked at the close of a business day by a combination lock and becomes, in effect, a small safe.

The new offices are the culmination of an expansion program by the First Federal Association which has risen from assets of $175,000 when it received its federal charter in 1935 to $8,892,528.78 as of Dec. 1, 1952. Association officers hope to go over the $9,000,000 mark by the first of the year.

Officers Suspended

The monthly report of Police Commissioner John J. Long, which was submitted to the Mayor and Council yesterday, stated that three policemen were suspended from the force for three days last month.

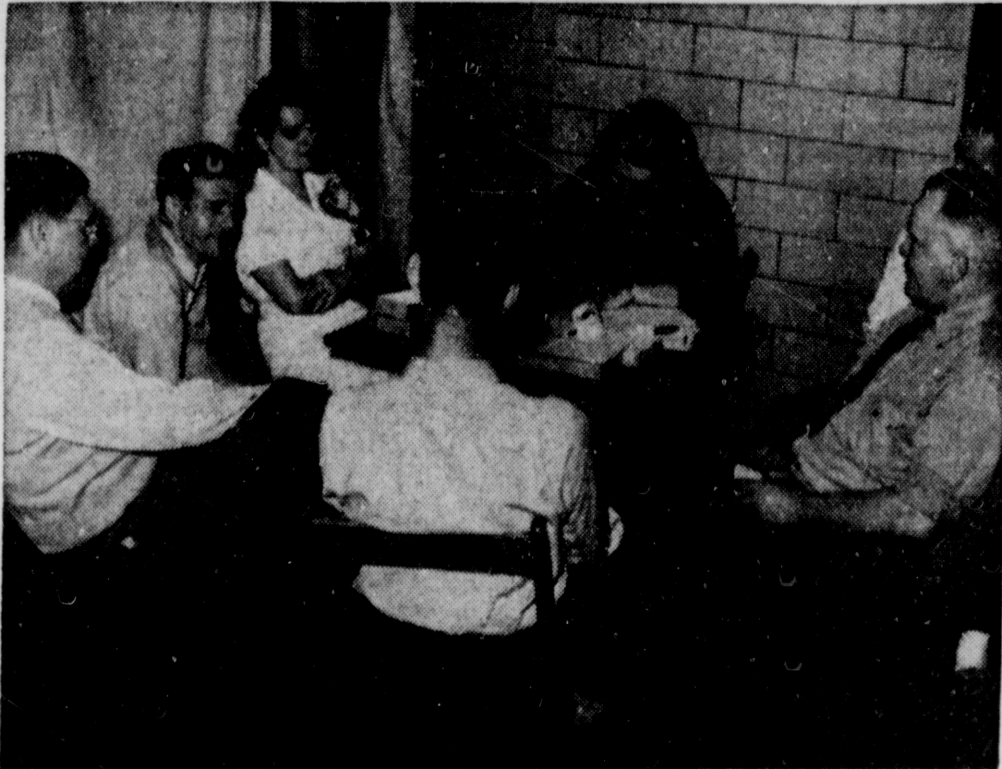

The officers were John Daum, Leo E. P. Law and Paul E. Penrod. Commissioner Long said he understood the suspensions were for reporting late for work.

Clinic Is Planned

A child hygiene clinic will be held today at 9 a. m. in Penn Avenue School. It will be followed at 10 a. m. by an immunization clinic. At City Hall, a heart clinic will be held today from 9 a. m. to noon.

BLOOD BANK DONORS NEEDED—These are scenes taken yesterday at the Red Cross blood bank at the Eagles Home, North Mechanic Street. A total of 106 volunteers appeared yesterday. This is an insufficient number to assure the continuance of the Blood Bank program here, and Red Cross officials said they need 200 volunteers today. The task of giving a pint of blood is a painless procedure. A staff of doctors, nurses, aides and other assistants are on hand to provide rapid processing and handling of volunteers so too much time is not lost from work, shopping or other activities. Red Cross officials point out that if

Cumberland is to continue to benefit from the Blood Bank program, and local hospitals are to be supplied with plasma and blood as needed by local sick and injured, the quota of 125 pints a day must be met. The Red Cross blood bank divides the blood between the armed services and civilian hospitals in local areas. Thus the program is a two-fold program. Local emergencies are met easily and with no confusion and the men on the fighting fronts are also given the blood and plasma they need. To meet this program completely, more local people must volunteer as donors. The Blood Bank opens in the Eagles Home today at noon.

City To Meet With County Delegation

Joint Conference Set For Tomorrow

The Mayor and Council will meet with the Allegany County Delegation tomorrow at 10:30 a. m. in City Hall to discuss legislation on the city wants passed by the General Assembly next spring.

The city officials will meet at 9 a. m., prior to the joint meetings, to discuss the proposals which will be presented for delegation approval.

The primary purpose of the conference, city officials said, is to attempt to secure some understanding as to what parts of the extensive legislative program the Delegation will be willing to authorize, and to learn if any parts of the program would be subject to referendum.

Just what price tag is to be placed on the entire program is not known, since engineering surveys on several possibilities have not yet been completed.

However, Mayor Roy W. Eves, in a talk before the Junior Association of Commerce last week, said the plan would cost roughly a million dollars.

The most urgent task was listed as the Frederick-Bedford Streets improvement project, which will cost about $500,000, half of which is to be borne by the federal government.

No costs are available for the proposed Industrial Boulevard in the South End, but Charles R. Nuzum, city engineer, who is pushing a survey of the route, has estimated the cost as about half a million.

Officials will check on the possibility of federal aid on the job if the delegation indicates tentative approval.

On October 11, the Mayor and Council met with the Delegation at Ali Ghan Shrine Club and presented a tentative legislative program which included bond issues to finance the Frederick-Bedford Street project, a $110,000 general improvement bond issue, improvements to Constitution Park and the airport, a new street paralleling the B. and O. from Bedford to Hay Street, boosting of the limit on the operating levy to $1.10 or abandoning the limitation altogether.

A Civil Service Bill will also be presented by the city for approval of the Legislature.

Other phases include freezing of present wage rates for city employees and a wage boost for the Mayor and Council. At present, the mayor's post pays $1,950 a year and councilmen get $1,560, which represents 30 per cent increases over base pay of $1,500 and $1,200 respectively.

Will Address Club

Mayor Roy W. Eves will discuss "The Future of Cumberland" at a meeting of the Kiwanis Club Thursday at noon in Central YMCA.

Water Company Plans Activities

The Evitts Creek Water Company held a special meeting yesterday afternoon in City Hall to discuss the possibilities of purchasing several small tracts of privately owned land on the city's watershed.

Officials said the owner of one of the tracts is considering building cabins on the plot, added that this would be a possible health hazard.

Plans were also discussed for having the Pennsylvania Department of Highways build about a mile of road between Lake Koon and Lake Gordon.

The meeting was preliminary to the annual meeting planned in January. The company is a Pennsylvania corporation which administers the city's water property in that state.

Present were Clifton W. White, president; Mayor Roy W. Eves, vice president; Miss Mary Clay, secretary; William J. Edwards, water commissioner; George M. Hitchcock, superintendent of the company, and Richard E. Snyder, Bedford, attorney.

Fort Cumberland Post Will Meet Tonight

An election for unexpired terms of several officers will feature the regular meeting of Fort Cumberland Post No. 13, American Legion, at 8 o'clock tonight.

Reports on the C&O Canal Parkway resolution, adopted at the Mountain District meeting Sunday at Kitzmiller, will be received. The post also will discuss membership plans and preparation for the Christmas entertainment.

Moving pictures will be shown after the meeting and lunch will be served.

Cental Assembly Will Feature Gospel Singers

Two well-known gospel singers will appear at the Central Assembly of God Church, Johnson and Fayette Streets, at 7:45 p. m. Wednesday and Thursday, according to Rev. Frank J. Fratto, pastor.

They are Sal Hoopli, a native Hawaiian, and his accompanist, Professor Ray Odegard.

Hoopli, who has become known as "The King of Guitar," spent 18 years in motion pictures in Hollywood.

The Hawaiian native is a network recording artist and a lyric tenor. He also has gained fame as the inventor of the steel Hawaiian guitar.

Firemen To Use Film In Campaign On Blasting Caps

City firemen have been promised the use of an hour-long film in their campaign to warn children of the dangers of handling dynamite caps.

Fire Chief Virgil A. Parker said the E. I. duPont de Nemours Company will send the film here on Feb. 4. Firemen will spend 15 days showing the film in all schools in the city and in as many outlying areas as can be reached in that time.

Parker said the film will be used in connection with a campaign begun last spring after two boys were fatally injured and several others were hurt while playing with blasting caps.

Miners Union Election Today

Coal miners in District 16 will go to the polls today to help elect international officers of the United Mine Workers.

Principal officers at stake are those of president, vice president and secretary-treasurer, currently held by John L. Lewis, Thomas Kennedy and John Owens.

All are elected by majority vote from every UMW district in the U. S. Other international offices and some district offices also will be at stake today, but none will be filled in this district.

William J. Morgan, secretary-treasurer for the six-county District 16, which includes parts of Maryland, West Virginia and Pennsylvania, said voting hours will vary with each local because of differences in mine shifts.

The 13 locals in the district include about 5,000 members.

Ridgeley Post To Fill Baskets

The movie, "Blondie In The Dough," will be shown tomorrow at 9 p. m. in the home of Knobley Mountain Post 136, American Legion at Ridgeley, for the benefit of the Christmas baskets for deserving families of that community.
